Midland Unit Hit By Strike With 350 Idle

Mackintosh Facility Among 6 Picketed In Pittsburgh Area

The Steelworkers Union ordered strikes against five other Western Pennsylvania fabricating firms at the same time Tuesday midnight at expiration of old contracts.

A union spokesman said "Mackintosh doesn't want to negotiate the basic contract which 'Big Steel' settled in March." A company spokesman was unavailable for comment.

The spokesman said the company has not yet put into effect the Constructive Wage Study, which re-classified and described jobs, and was supposed to be used after last November. It is retroactive.

The spokesman said the company and union have been negotiating the past two months, either at Midland or at Pittsburgh, and again Wednesday at Midland. No agreement was reached, however.

The spokesman said the plant's vacation period was set yesterday for two weeks. The union permits use of three foremen to keep furnaces warm.

The division's Garrison plant at Pittsburgh is also affected by the strike with about 200 employes involved. Contracts at the Bliss plants at Canton and Salem do not expire until the end of August.

Cecil R. (Red) Hodgson, plant manager at Midland, was not available to any newspapermen, it was reported. Ronald Bolton of East Liverpool is president of Local 1269 of Mackintosh-Hemphill.

Other plants struck because of "no contract—no work" include the Heppenstall Co. and McConway & Torley Co., both of Lawrenceville, Pittsburgh, H. H. Robertson Co. of Ambridge, Union Electric Steel of Carnegie and Pittsburgh Pipe & Coupling Co. of Glenshaw.

About 2,000 steelworkers are affected at the plants. Another 6,000 are working on a day-to-day basis as negotiations continue for the Blaw-Knox Co. at Pittsburgh.

Air Search Pressed For Missing Airliner

NEW DELHI (AP) — Thick clouds and thunderstorms hampered an air search today for a Nepali airliner missing with 10 persons aboard, including two U.S. government officials.

The DC-3 Dakota presumably crashed Wednesday in jungles or farmland at the foot of the Himalyas while on a flight from Katmandu to New Delhi. It was last heard from over the India-Nepal border.

Passengers included Sidney B. Jacques and Oscar Curtis Holder, both 51 and both from Washington, D.C. The U.S. Embassy said they were touring inspectors of the Agency for International Development.

Probation Given Club In East End

Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon Wednesday afternoon laid down stringent conditions for the continued operation of the Veterans Social Club on Pennsylvania Ave., although he did not grant the state's petition to padlock the organization's building.

The club's probation will take effect at midnight tonight, but the organization may continue to operate if it posts a $5,000 bond for stay of execution of the order pending an appeal, the judge said.

He ordered the club to:

Increase the men's toilet to three times its present size.

PAY THE wages of an East Liverpool police officer to be stationed at the club from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. each night it operates. The officer's duty will be to require patrons to be quiet in entering and leaving the club, to prevent persons of opposite sexes from occupying cars parked in the neighborhood, to prevent drinking outside the club and to prevent the alley adjacent to the club from being used as a toilet or for illegal parking of cars.

If the rules are observed and if the city will appoint a policeman to see that they are observed, the club may remain open, Judge Sharp said. If any of the rules are violated, the club will be closed immediately, he declared.

The state's petition seeking to padlock the club as a "public nuisance" was an outgrowth of a letter which Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff wrote to Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw.

Citing a series of liquor law violations and incidents of fighting, cuttings and stabbings, the local judge asked the prosecutor to act against the club in Common Pleas Court. Judge Chertoff was one of the state's witnesses in the "padlock" hearing.

IN PLACING the club on probation, Judge Sharp said four citations for selling to non-members over the years were not sufficient in the court's opinion to justify closing of the club. The judge continued that it appeared that the club was a place used only for the sale of liquor and wines.

He pointed out that the club has a billiard table, dance floor and music box and operated a baseball team. The club may not maintain a set of rules for its 75 regular members and 420 social members, but these facts were not in the state's petition and the court would not take action upon them, Judge Sharp said.

Continuing, Judge Sharp said there was "an overwhelming amount of evidence that the club failed to keep the peace, comfort and decency of the neighborhood." The court commented that evidence indicated these conditions prevailed for several years.

Kent State University's Center Here To Be Closed

Because of a lack of interest, the East Liverpool Center of Kent State University, opened three years ago, is being closed.

A spokesman in the university's extension division office attributed the closing to "insufficient enrollment," explaining it has been declining steadily.

Letters have been mailed to students who expressed interest in courses this fall informing them they may transfer to the proposed Salem Center scheduled to open in September or to the established Canton Center.

No definite decision has been reached on the opening of the Salem branch. Registration for classes is scheduled the last week of this month to determine if there is sufficient interest.

The local center was sponsored by the Board of Education and the Eastern Ohio Council for Higher Education. The council members included community, industrial and educational representatives from Columbiana, Carroll, Harrison and Jefferson Counties.

When the center opened in September 1959, at the high school, the enrollment totaled about 130. But it has fallen off each year since despite attempts to create interest among high school students in the four - county area.

The center was transferred to Westgate School in the hope that more parking area would attract more interest.

The closing comes as a blow to school officials who have worked hard to create interest.

They explained several times the center offered students a chance to hold steady jobs during the daytime and secure two years of college credit by attending extension classes two or three times a week.

Several students received sufficient credit to secure teaching certificates and now are substituting in city schools.

Just three months ago, Kent State announced it had agreed to the school board's request to expand the East Liverpool center to include a two-year college program effective with the start of the fall quarter in September.

KSU representatives met with seniors in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Beaver Local, Lisbon and Toronto high schools to explain the program and distribute literature.

The students also were asked if they wanted to receive application forms for admission but, obviously, there wasn't sufficient interest to warrant Kent State continuing the center.

Georgia City Scorns Bid By President

Deadlock Reached In Race Issues As Hearing Continues

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Racial issues remained deadlocked today despite President John F. Kennedy's comment that the situation in this southwest Georgia city is "wholly unsatisfactory."

As the White House stepped openly into the matter, a federal court hearing continues on whether mass demonstrations by Negroes should be banned.

Mayor Asa D. Kelley Jr. rejected the President's position that city officials should sit down and talk with Negro leaders. And Kelley got support from Gov. Ernest Vandiver.

"We will never talk to outside agitators about local problems," the mayor said.

Sole spokesman for the seven-member City Commission, Kelley blamed agitators for creating turmoil in Albany, where Negroes comprise about 40 per cent of the 58,000 population.

Asked if that referred to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, currently in jail as a result of integrationist activities, the mayor replied:

"I mean exactly that."

Kennedy promised in Washington at his news conference to "do everything in our power to protect the constitutional rights of all the people."

"Let me say that I find it wholly inexplicable why the city of Albany will not sit down with the citizens of Albany, who may be Negroes, and attempt to secure them, in a peaceful way, their rights. The United States government is involved in sitting down at Geneva with the Soviet Union. I can't understand why the government of Albany, City Council of Albany, cannot do the same for American citizens."

The mayor didn't rule out the possibility of talking with Albany Negroes but he stated as a condition to negotiations the departure of King and his corps of integration strategists.

King agreed with the President on negotiations. The integration leader, after a week behind bars, said Kelley was offering "an excuse and another evasive scheme to avoid negotiating."

The impasse between city officials and integration leaders dates to last November, shortly before the mass demonstrations erupted. More than 1,200 arrests have been made since mid-December.

Each side in the controversy has accused the other of breaking faith. Negro leaders in recent months have talked once with city fathers at a regular commission meeting. But there has been no real agreement on the disposition of city court cases pending against demonstrators, or on desegregation of public facilities.

Rival Blocs In Algeria Ease Fears

Agree To Accept Seven-Man Bureau As Ruling Force

ALGIERS (AP) — Algeria's battling politicians achieved a peace pact today with rivals agreeing to accept temporary leadership of a political bureau dominated by left-leaning dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella.

Two rival deputy premiers — Belkacem Krim and Mohammed Boudiaf — agreed to accept the seven-man bureau as the ruling force, in a major concession to avert civil war in this month-old north African nation.

Acceptance of the solution proposed by Ben Bella and his followers was agreed upon at a meeting between Ben Bella's envoy Mohammed Khider, and Krim and Boudiaf. They were joined by Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj, commander of the Kabylie military district opposing Ben Bella.

Khider read a joint statement which said the decision was reached "in consideration of the gravity of the situation and of the serious consequences for the country."

He said the political bureau would remain in power until a meeting of the old Algerian Revolutionary Parliament about a month from now.

New Contract Ends Walkout

Aluminum Unions Back At 22 Plants

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The nation's two largest aluminum producers have agreed to similar two year contracts with the AFL-CIO Aluminum Workers International Union, providing better job security through longer vacations and pension improvements. The pact ended a one-day strike of 16,000 workers at 22 plants.

Reynolds Aluminum Co., and union negotiators reached agreement a few minutes after midnight today, six and a half hours after the Aluminum Company of America agreed to a new contract.

Employes started returning to work at midnight in Alcoa plants and less than two hours later at Reynolds plants. Alcoa signed its contract Wednesday night, Reynolds will do so today.

The two contracts are much alike. Both provide for enlarged vacations, improved pensions and better work rules. Neither contract includes a wage increase.

Spokesmen for both firms said full production at some plants won't be restored for as long as six weeks, depending on the type of plant. All plants were shut down and furnaces cooled in preparation for the strike.

Union president Eddie R. Stahl said the union sought more job security to counteract plant automation. He said automation had cost the union 5,000 members in the last three years.

'Check Medicine Cabinets'

Kennedy To Seek Stiffer Curbs On Harmful Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy promises stiffer government controls to avert drug tragedies and urges every woman in the country to guard against taking thalidomide.

He asks all women to look through their medicine cabinets and turn in any thalidomide they find to health authorities. The drug is blamed for thousands of malformed births in Europe.

Kennedy issued the warning, along with an appeal for Congress to establish new safeguards against potentially harmful drugs, at his news conference Wednesday.

From the same platform, Kennedy castigated city officials in Albany, Ga., for not sitting down with Negroes and trying to rescue their constitutional rights. The President was asked about racial strife in the Georgia community, where protests have led to a multitude of arrests and rising tension.

"The United States government is involved in sitting down at Geneva with the Soviet Union," he said. "I can't understand why the government of Albany, City Council of Albany, cannot do the same for American citizens."

As for the talks at Geneva, Kennedy said U.S. negotiator Arthur H. Dean will present new information gathered by the United States on a simpler, more economical and more effective system for detecting underground nuclear explosions and enforcing a test ban treaty.

Kennedy praised the Food and Drug Administration, especially Dr. Frances Kelsey, for alertness in preventing commercial distribution of the drug in this country. But he said "we ought to be

Suspect Held In Freedom Strangulation

Beaver Authorities To Seek Return Of Man At Crestline

BEAVER FALLS — Beaver County Detective Russell Meskow and State Police Detective Sgt. James Barger of the Butler barracks were in Crestline, Ohio, today, questioning a suspect in the apparent strangulation of Mrs. Loretta Schultz of Freedom R. D. 1, whose body was found Tuesday.

Picked up by Crestline police last night at the request of Beaver County Sheriff John M. Hineman Jr. was Carroll Williams, 27, a resident of California, who was visiting in the county.

Meskow and Barger plan to ask officials there for permission to bring Williams back to the county for interrogation, District Atty. Richard P. Steward said.

Sheriff Hineman said he has evidence that Williams had been with Mrs. Schultz at various places between Monday at 7:30 p. m. and Tuesday morning at 12:45. The sheriff said Conway police were instrumental in providing leads.

A native of Charleston, Williams came to the county from California about two weeks ago to visit relatives. At noon yesterday he was observed packing his clothes in readiness to return to California, officers said.

After his movements were learned, Sheriff Hineman said he alerted area police. The pickup in Crestline resulted.

Williams was driving a 1951 four-door sedan when arrested. Conway police had charged him with aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill on Jan. 7, 1958.

He was convicted by a jury and placed on probation for 10 years, ordered to pay costs and a $100 fine, make restitution of $2,500 to James Cornish at the rate of $50 a month and provide bond for payment.

When he did not meet the provision, he was taken to the State Penitentiary at Rock View May 23, 1958 to serve 2 to 4 years.

Meanwhile detectives questioned other suspects and followed

Chester Plans Survey To Set Water Rates

Council Told Suit Likely For Voiding Sewage Bond Pact

A survey for a proposed flat rate for all water customers in Chester was authorized Wednesday night by Council which learned it will probably face a court battle over its recent voiding of a contract with a bonding firm for a planned sewage disposal plant.

Council voted to have sheets printed for the survey of city homes to be conducted by the water department in line with a planned flat rate system.

Councilman Wayne Hutton of the water and sewer committee reported on the committee's decision to forego installation of water meters in homes and businesses without such meters, citing the cost of the project.

A Pittsburgh firm offered 700 meters at a cost of $21,500 plus 5.75 per cent interest, and the committee decided the water works could not afford such a plan and could not legally incur such a debt for a future Council, Hutton explained.

He said the committee wants to work out a general flat rate system for the city, and suggested the survey, listing the name, address and number of people residing at each home, along with

False Alarm Becomes Blaze In Salineville

SALINEVILLE — "No wasted motions" could well be the motto of Salineville volunteer firemen who Wednesday afternoon responded to what turned out to be a false alarm but extinguished a blaze anyway.

Police Pulled Off Traffic Control As Aid To Race Track

A resolution to "do everything in our power" to aid in eliminating illegal whisky sales, slot machines and gambling in Chester was approved unanimously by Chester Council Wednesday night.

Council also asked for a legal ruling on the need for warrants to enter private clubs, suggested enforcement of laws preventing minors from playing pinball machines and pulled city police off duties directing race track traffic.

Hutton Opens Discussion

Councilman Wayne Hutton opened the discussion on "reported illegalities" in the city, and Councilman Carl Graham declared all ordinances "ought to be enforced."

None of the councilmen mentioned specific violations or possible violators, but it was noted that there have been reports of infractions of liquor and gambling laws.

Councilman Don Chaney declared, "We have taken an oath to defend the Constitution and laws, and we should follow it."

Graham made a motion, seconded by Chaney, that Council do everything in its power to assist Mayor Harry Abrams and the city police to eliminate such illegal practices. The motion carried unanimously, with Councilmen Graham, Chaney, Hutton, Donald Hissam and Charles Kology voting.

Solicitor Ruling Asked

City Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner was asked if officers need a warrant to enter a private club. She replied it depended on whether there was a doorman, but would give a ruling at the next Council meeting.

Following a lengthy discussion on traffic to and from Waterford Park race track and the park's hiring of officers to aid in handling the traffic, a motion was passed to remove Police Chief Clarence Lennens from traffic duty at 1st St. and Carolina Ave. and to request withdrawl of a Hancock County deputy sheriff from duty at Route 30 and the Lawrenceville Rd.

Hutton began the discussion by saying he was interested in having Patrolman Frank Fetty assist in the traffic duties inside the city limits.

Had Asked Sheriff

He said he had asked Sheriff Joseph Manypenny about use of Fetty, and was told by the sheriff " 'I can't do anything about it'."

Chief Lennens last night told Council he is not in favor of working the duty if Fetty doesn't.

Graham said James Edwards, president of the track, called him along with Chaney and Hutton to the track to find out what Chester will do about traffic control.

Graham said the three new

Probation Given Club In East End

Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon Wednesday afternoon laid down stringent conditions for the continued operation of the Veterans Social Club on Pennsylvania Ave., although he did not grant the state's petition to padlock the organization's building.

The club's probation will take effect at midnight tonight, but the organization may continue to operate if it posts a $5,000 bond for stay of execution of the order pending an appeal, the judge said.

He ordered the club to:

Increase the men's toilet to three times its present size.

PAY THE wages of an East Liverpool police officer to be stationed at the club from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. each night it operates. The officer's duty will be to require patrons to be quiet in entering and leaving the club, to prevent persons of opposite sexes from occupying cars parked in the neighborhood, to prevent drinking outside the club and to prevent the alley adjacent to the club from being used as a toilet or for illegal parking of cars.

If the rules are observed and if the city will appoint a policeman to see that they are observed, the club may remain open, Judge Sharp said. If any of the rules are violated, the club will be closed immediately, he declared.

The state's petition seeking to padlock the club as a "public nuisance" was an outgrowth of a letter which Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff wrote to Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw.

Citing a series of liquor law violations and incidents of fighting, cuttings and stabbings, the local judge asked the prosecutor to act against the club in Common Pleas Court. Judge Chertoff was one of the state's witnesses in the "padlock" hearing.

IN PLACING the club on probation, Judge Sharp said four citations for selling to non-members over the years were not sufficient in the court's opinion to justify closing of the club. The judge continued that it appeared that the club was a place used only for the sale of liquor and wines.

He pointed out that the club has a billiard table, dance floor and music box and operated a baseball team. The club may not maintain a set of rules for its 75 regular members and 420 social members, but these facts were not in the state's petition and the court would not take action upon them, Judge Sharp said.

Continuing, Judge Sharp said there was "an overwhelming amount of evidence that the club failed to keep the peace, comfort and decency of the neighborhood." The court commented that evidence indicated these conditions prevailed for several years.

Unanimous Vote Shown For Cleanup

Police Pulled Off Traffic Control As Aid To Race Track

A resolution to "do everything in our power" to aid in eliminating illegal whisky sales, slot machines and gambling in Chester was approved unanimously by Chester Council Wednesday night.

Council also asked for a legal ruling on the need for warrants to enter private clubs, suggested enforcement of laws preventing minors from playing pinball machines and pulled city police off duties directing race track traffic.

Hutton Opens Discussion

Councilman Wayne Hutton opened the discussion on "reported illegalities" in the city, and Councilman Carl Graham declared all ordinances "ought to be enforced."

None of the councilmen mentioned specific violations or possible violators, but it was noted that there have been reports of infractions of liquor and gambling laws.

Councilman Don Chaney declared, "We have taken an oath to defend the Constitution and laws, and we should follow it."

Graham made a motion, seconded by Chaney, that Council do everything in its power to assist Mayor Harry Abrams and the city police to eliminate such illegal practices. The motion carried unanimously, with Councilmen Graham, Chaney, Hutton, Donald Hissam and Charles Kology voting.

Solicitor Ruling Asked

City Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner was asked if officers need a warrant to enter a private club. She replied it depended on whether there was a doorman, but would give a ruling at the next Council meeting.

Following a lengthy discussion on traffic to and from Waterford Park race track and the park's hiring of officers to aid in handling the traffic, a motion was passed to remove Police Chief Clarence Lennens from traffic duty at 1st St. and Carolina Ave. and to request withdrawl of a Hancock County deputy sheriff from duty at Route 30 and the Lawrenceville Rd.

Hutton began the discussion by saying he was interested in having Patrolman Frank Fetty assist in the traffic duties inside the city limits.

Had Asked Sheriff

He said he had asked Sheriff Joseph Manypenny about use of Fetty, and was told by the sheriff " 'I can't do anything about it'."

Chief Lennens last night told Council he is not in favor of working the duty if Fetty doesn't.

Graham said James Edwards, president of the track, called him along with Chaney and Hutton to the track to find out what Chester will do about traffic control.

Graham said the three new

Beaver Authorities To Seek Return Of Man At Crestline

BEAVER FALLS — Beaver County Detective Russell Meskow and State Police Detective Sgt. James Barger of the Butler barracks were in Crestline, Ohio, today, questioning a suspect in the apparent strangulation of Mrs. Loretta Schultz of Freedom R. D. 1, whose body was found Tuesday.

Picked up by Crestline police last night at the request of Beaver County Sheriff John M. Hineman Jr. was Carroll Williams, 27, a resident of California, who was visiting in the county.

Meskow and Barger plan to ask officials there for permission to bring Williams back to the county for interrogation, District Atty. Richard P. Steward said.

Sheriff Hineman said he has evidence that Williams had been with Mrs. Schultz at various places between Monday at 7:30 p. m. and Tuesday morning at 12:45. The sheriff said Conway police were instrumental in providing leads.

A native of Charleston, Williams came to the county from California about two weeks ago to visit relatives. At noon yesterday he was observed packing his clothes in readiness to return to California, officers said.

After his movements were learned, Sheriff Hineman said he alerted area police. The pickup in Crestline resulted.

Williams was driving a 1951 four-door sedan when arrested. Conway police had charged him with aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill on Jan. 7, 1958.

He was convicted by a jury and placed on probation for 10 years, ordered to pay costs and a $100 fine, make restitution of $2,500 to James Cornish at the rate of $50 a month and provide bond for payment.

When he did not meet the provision, he was taken to the State Penitentiary at Rock View May 23, 1958 to serve 2 to 4 years.

Meanwhile detectives questioned other suspects and followed

A survey for a proposed flat rate for all water customers in Chester was authorized Wednesday night by Council which learned it will probably face a court battle over its recent voiding of a contract with a bonding firm for a planned sewage disposal plant.

Council voted to have sheets printed for the survey of city homes to be conducted by the water department in line with a planned flat rate system.

Councilman Wayne Hutton of the water and sewer committee reported on the committee's decision to forego installation of water meters in homes and businesses without such meters, citing the cost of the project.

A Pittsburgh firm offered 700 meters at a cost of $21,500 plus 5.75 per cent interest, and the committee decided the water works could not afford such a plan and could not legally incur such a debt for a future Council, Hutton explained.

He said the committee wants to work out a general flat rate system for the city, and suggested the survey, listing the name, address and number of people residing at each home, along with

False Alarm Becomes Blaze In Salineville

SALINEVILLE — "No wasted motions" could well be the motto of Salineville volunteer firemen who Wednesday afternoon responded to what turned out to be a false alarm but extinguished a blaze anyway.

Justice Gets 2 Years For Bankruptcy 'Fix'

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge sentenced State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh today to two years in prison on a charge of obstructing justice by trying to fix a federal court bankruptcy case.

His two co-defendants, Elliott Kahaner, 36, a former U.S. assistant attorney in Brooklyn, and Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo, 47, an underworld figure, also were sentenced to two years.

U.S. To Make New Offer On A-Test Curb

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sends his disarmament negotiator back to Geneva today with an offer of new concessions for a nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union.

Final decisions on U.S. strategy for a determined new bid to check the nuclear arms race were made at a White House conference presided over by the President late Wednesday.

Shortly before going into that meeting with his top military and diplomatic advisers, Kennedy told a news conference that the critical issue between the United States and the Soviet Union is the right of international inspection.

He appealed to the government of Premier Khrushchev to drop its total opposition to such inspection.

The White House meeting was the latest of a series which began last week, climaxing the study of new scientific information on the detection and identification of underground nuclear explosions.

Kennedy told his news conference this information shows that it should be possible to reduce the amount of inspection — and thus the operations of foreign investigators inside the Soviet Union—and at the same time have an acceptable degree of security against violations of the treaty ban. The Soviet Union maintains that inspections on its soil would amount to spying.

The heart of the problem is that a total prohibition on nuclear weapons tests could be policed only with provision for checking on earth shocks which might be caused by secret underground explosions. The idea of the checks is to prevent any nuclear power from cheating.

Ambassador Arthur Dean, the top U.S. negotiator at the 17-nation Geneva Disarmament Conference, returned to Washington last weekend for the final round of policy making conferences.

At the conference Kennedy is understood to have ruled that Dean should give the Soviet Union and the other Geneva powers full information on scientific findings about the improvements in detection technique. These, Kennedy made clear at his news conference, will permit reductions in the amount of inspection necessary to police a test ban.

The President and his advisers also decided Wednesday that the United States would be prepared —if the Soviet Union will accept inspection—to negotiate on a radically new line respecting the establishment of permanent control posts within the Soviet Union.

Officials said that if sufficient safeguards could be developed the United States could be expected to drop its demand that such posts be staffed in large part by foreigners including representatives of the Western allies.

Reds Say U.S. Soldier Defects Post In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The Czechoslovak news agency, CTK, said today a member of a U.S. Army rocket unit in West Germany has sought political asylum in Czechoslovakia.

The agency said the soldier, identified as R. S. Hareld, asked for asylum on the grounds of racial discrimination in the West.

In Prague, Communist sources were reported to have told Western newsmen Hareld was a Negro officer, but CTK did not give his rank.

Hareld was accompanied by a German woman identified by CTK as Margita Schlottag, said to have been a U.S. Army employe in Germany.

In Washington, the Army said a Sgt. Raymond S. Hareld has been absent from his unit since May 8 and was last seen near the Czech-Austrian border May 30.

Hareld was listed as assigned to the 5th Missile Battalion, 1st Artillery, 32nd Artillery Brigade, at Wiesbaden, Germany.

Army records show his next of Kin as Mrs. Hatsuko Hareld of East Providence, R.I. He enlisted in the Army in December 1949.

Farmer Has Own Foreign Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmer Harold Weisberg's own foreign aid program is moving at a brisk waddle again.

Weisberg, of Hyattstown, Md., who last January sent 25 white geese as a gift to St. Lucia Island in the West Indies, is sending off today another quacking and honking shipment of good will.

This one—50 ducklings and 18 goslings from his prime breeding stock—are heading for Liberia at the request of the African nation as a start on increasing its food supply.

Why is Weisberg doing it? "Because I want to help." he said. "President Kennedy told us in his inaugural address that each citizen should ask himself what he could do for his country."

Tartar sauce, the perennial for fried or broiled scallops, may be made quickly by mixing mayonnaise with pickle relish plus minced onion and parsley. If there's a jar of olives in the refrigerator, mince some of these too and add.

Odd Facts

According to the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, the oxidation of methyl alcohol (wood alcohol) in the body produces formic acid, which can severely damage the optic nerve. This makes methyl alcohol dangerous for consumption. Ethyl alcohol is the type used in alcoholic beverages.

There is no authentic record as to who first ate eggs in the history of the world, but they have been used for food since ancient times. Eggs are mentioned in the Bible, in the Book of Job: "Is there any taste in the white of the egg?"

The first people to use iron freely in the manufacture of tools and weapons, according to most archaeologists, were the Assyrians. They had knives and saws of hardened steel. The art of hardening and tempering steel was a familiar one in Homer's time.

City Club Put On Probation

THE JUDGE added that there was evidence of loud talking and shouting on the part of patrons entering and leaving the club and that empty bottles were left lying around the neighborhood, including the alley alongside the building.

The judge noted evidence that the alley was used as a latrine and that cars were parked there illegally with members and social members "using their cars for purposes other than transportation."

"After visiting the club and its neighborhood in person, maybe the court should and could close the club, but the court knows that the colored people should be allowed to have a place where they can relax and enjoy themselves if they do not disturb anyone," Judge Sharp commented.

Brokaw, summing up his case yesterday afternoon, declared that the action was not a racial issue, although all the state's witnesses were white persons. It was a case where the neighborhood was disturbed by the club's patrons and the club was a place where he believed a lot of the trouble began, Brokaw said.

ATTY. HUGO ALEXANDER of Steubenville, counsel for the club, agreed that racial prejudice had nothing to do with the request to close the club.

But he said he believes one man, Robert Trbovich, a close neighbor of the club, was the cause of all the complaints.

He referred to Trbovich as "a man who sleeps on the davenport and keeps a running diary of persons entering and leaving the club, the times and how they act."

He said Trbovich had offered to sell his house to the club several times but the price "has always been too high for consideration." He said he believes another complainant wanted the building as quarters for a laundromat and that fact prompted her complaint.

COUNSEL for the state and the defendant agreed that the alleged incidents stemmed principally from transient members from throughout the Tri-State area visiting the club, not the local residents who are patrons.

As the case closed, the club did not post a $5,000 bond for a stay of execution pending appeal.

Busy Days Abroad

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

If President Kennedy's first 18 months with Congress looked like an obstacle race, it was foreign affairs which truly kept him hopping.

Events abroad piled up but, because they were scattered over a year and a half and none yet has led to an explosion for the United States, many of them may have looked like minor episodes.

In one way or another, the United States had a stake in all of them and for that reason they were all problems for Kennedy.

His most visible mistake was in permitting the disastrous U.S.-backed Cuban invasion, at least in the way it was carried out. His biggest success was holding firm on Berlin until Premier Khrushchev cooled off.

If anything could be called his biggest frustration it was in the failure to get agreement on disarmament or a ban on nuclear testing. Presidents Truman and Eisenhower could understand this; they went through it, too.

Besides the various bedevilments of Cuba's Castro, assassination ended the 31-year dictatorship of Rafael Trujillo in the Dominican Republic, armies in Peru and Argentina threw out the elected governments, and civilian-military conflict in Brazil led to the departure of an elected President there.

In between times, Kennedy got hearty approval from the Latin Americans for his Alliance for Progress, although his hesitancy in recognizing military regimes showed he doubted progress comes through armies.

Algeria, after months of fury and assassinations by the secret army, won its independence from France only to be thrown into chaos by the rivalry of its own Moslem factions.

Those old enemies and next-door neighbors, Israel and Egypt, developed rockets. Syria broke loose from its union with Egypt. India and Pakistan were still in their quarrel over part of Kashmir.

At home in Portugal, dictator Salazar began to have some trouble. So did dictator Franco in Spain next door. The United States has bases on Spanish and Portuguese territory.

The Congo got explosive, quieted down, and may really explode again in the unsettled dispute between the central government and the secessionist province of Katanga.

The United States got more deeply involved in South Viet Nam to save it from a Communist takeover, sending in troops and weapons to sharpen the Vietnamese in guerrilla fighting.

There has been no enthusiasm in this country for getting involved in a war in landlocked Laos. Kennedy's toughness in the spring of 1961 about stiff-arming pro-Communist pushes there melted away and he finally settled for a so-called neutralist government which may dissolve into communism anyway.

Meanwhile he sent American troops into neighboring Thailand to bolster its defenses against any invasion by the Communist guerrillas of Laos.

Even Thailand and its neighbor, Cambodia, got into an international dispute over a temple. This was settled without shooting. Red China massed troops on the mainland opposite the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu but so far nothing has come of that.

The Dutch and Indonesians took to shooting over the ownership of New Guinea. And in Burma the military under Gen. Ne Win took over.

Khrushchev demanded that the post of U.N. secretary general be replaced with a troika—a three-man secretariat. This was settled for the time being when U Thant of Burma was picked to fill the late Dag Hammarskjold's place as acting secretary general.

In Europe, where the worst explosion could have happened because of Khrushchev's demands on Berlin, the future of Britain in the European Common Market still is undecided.

In addition to all this: Kennedy met a lot of people in 18 months, here and abroad. Far and away the most important meeting was with Khrushchev in Vienna.

Odd Facts

According to the Florida Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, the oxidation of methyl alcohol (wood alcohol) in the body produces formic acid, which can severely damage the optic nerve. This makes methyl alcohol dangerous for consumption. Ethyl alcohol is the type used in alcoholic beverages.

There is no authentic record as to who first ate eggs in the history of the world, but they have been used for food since ancient times. Eggs are mentioned in the Bible, in the Book of Job: "Is there any taste in the white of the egg?"

The first people to use iron freely in the manufacture of tools and weapons, according to most archaeologists, were the Assyrians. They had knives and saws of hardened steel. The art of hardening and tempering steel was a familiar one in Homer's time.

City Club Put On Probation

THE JUDGE added that there was evidence of loud talking and shouting on the part of patrons entering and leaving the club and that empty bottles were left lying around the neighborhood, including the alley alongside the building.

The judge noted evidence that the alley was used as a latrine and that cars were parked there illegally with members and social members "using their cars for purposes other than transportation."

"After visiting the club and its neighborhood in person, maybe the court should and could close the club, but the court knows that the colored people should be allowed to have a place where they can relax and enjoy themselves if they do not disturb anyone," Judge Sharp commented.

Brokaw, summing up his case yesterday afternoon, declared that the action was not a racial issue, although all the state's witnesses were white persons. It was a case where the neighborhood was disturbed by the club's patrons and the club was a place where he believed a lot of the trouble began, Brokaw said.

ATTY. HUGO ALEXANDER of Steubenville, counsel for the club, agreed that racial prejudice had nothing to do with the request to close the club.

But he said he believes one man, Robert Trbovich, a close neighbor of the club, was the cause of all the complaints.

He referred to Trbovich as "a man who sleeps on the davenport and keeps a running diary of persons entering and leaving the club, the times and how they act."

He said Trbovich had offered to sell his house to the club several times but the price "has always been too high for consideration." He said he believes another complainant wanted the building as quarters for a laundromat and that fact prompted her complaint.

COUNSEL for the state and the defendant agreed that the alleged incidents stemmed principally from transient members from throughout the Tri-State area visiting the club, not the local residents who are patrons.

As the case closed, the club did not post a $5,000 bond for a stay of execution pending appeal.

Waves, during a storm at sea, rarely reach a height of more than 50 feet, although they appear much higher when viewed from a ship on the open sea. The highest ever reported by the Hydrographic Office of the U.S. Navy Department was encountered in the North Atlantic on December 22, 1922, by the British Steamship "Majestic" — an estimated 80 feet high!

Busy Days Abroad

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

If President Kennedy's first 18 months with Congress looked like an obstacle race, it was foreign affairs which truly kept him hopping.

Events abroad piled up but, because they were scattered over a year and a half and none yet has led to an explosion for the United States, many of them may have looked like minor episodes.

In one way or another, the United States had a stake in all of them and for that reason they were all problems for Kennedy.

His most visible mistake was in permitting the disastrous U.S.-backed Cuban invasion, at least in the way it was carried out. His biggest success was holding firm on Berlin until Premier Khrushchev cooled off.

If anything could be called his biggest frustration it was in the failure to get agreement on disarmament or a ban on nuclear testing. Presidents Truman and Eisenhower could understand this; they went through it, too.

Besides the various bedevilments of Cuba's Castro, assassination ended the 31-year dictatorship of Rafael Trujillo in the Dominican Republic, armies in Peru and Argentina threw out the elected governments, and civilian-military conflict in Brazil led to the departure of an elected President there.

In between times, Kennedy got hearty approval from the Latin Americans for his Alliance for Progress, although his hesitancy in recognizing military regimes showed he doubted progress comes through armies.

Algeria, after months of fury and assassinations by the secret army, won its independence from France only to be thrown into chaos by the rivalry of its own Moslem factions.

Those old enemies and next-door neighbors, Israel and Egypt, developed rockets. Syria broke loose from its union with Egypt. India and Pakistan were still in their quarrel over part of Kashmir.

At home in Portugal, dictator Salazar began to have some trouble. So did dictator Franco in Spain next door. The United States has bases on Spanish and Portuguese territory.

The Congo got explosive, quieted down, and may really explode again in the unsettled dispute between the central government and the secessionist province of Katanga.

The United States got more deeply involved in South Viet Nam to save it from a Communist takeover, sending in troops and weapons to sharpen the Vietnamese in guerrilla fighting.

There has been no enthusiasm in this country for getting involved in a war in landlocked Laos. Kennedy's toughness in the spring of 1961 about stiff-arming pro-Communist pushes there melted away and he finally settled for a so-called neutralist government which may dissolve into communism anyway.

Meanwhile he sent American troops into neighboring Thailand to bolster its defenses against any invasion by the Communist guerrillas of Laos.

Even Thailand and its neighbor, Cambodia, got into an international dispute over a temple. This was settled without shooting. Red China massed troops on the mainland opposite the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu but so far nothing has come of that.

The Dutch and Indonesians took to shooting over the ownership of New Guinea. And in Burma the military under Gen. Ne Win took over.

Khrushchev demanded that the post of U.N. secretary general be replaced with a troika—a three-man secretariat. This was settled for the time being when U Thant of Burma was picked to fill the late Dag Hammarskjold's place as acting secretary general.

In Europe, where the worst explosion could have happened because of Khrushchev's demands on Berlin, the future of Britain in the European Common Market still is undecided.

In addition to all this: Kennedy met a lot of people in 18 months, here and abroad. Far and away the most important meeting was with Khrushchev in Vienna.

An All-American President

If everybody agrees that fading confidence is slowing down the growth of enterprise in the United States and that only a change of government attitude can strengthen confidence, what are we waiting for?

Why doesn't the Kennedy administration do what we have been told the governments of other countries are doing—throw all its support behind the expansion of enterprise? Why should it scare off producers of wealth?

The key to this economic mystery is a belief that has had a powerful effect on two-party politics since the mid-'30s. This belief may or may not be founded in fact. But even if it springs from fantasy and folklore, it's still powerful.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY holds it to be an article of faith that it must believe whatever labor leaders of the country who profess to be Democrats say it should believe. These people believe, in turn, that the only way they can stay at the top of their exclusive occupational group is to pretend to be hostile to employers, managers, financiers and professed disciples of free enterprise.

Whether they all believe this personally is questionable. Most of them are hard-headed realists whose eyes are focused sharply on the source of their institutional and personal income, which certainly is not socialism or any other form of anti-capitalism.

But as long as they preach antagonism to enterprise in their public statements, spokesmen for the political party they dominate will sing the same tune. The Democratic party will inspire no confidence in the business community.

THE QUESTION is now and has been for more than 25 years whether union leaders who bait business, even to the point of advocating state capitalism, represent their constituents, or whether these men are personally dominated by the idelogies of powerful associates at the expense of American Unionism.

Democratic politicians share with Republicans a throbbing curiosity about the real power of union bosses. Can the bosses deliver the votes they say they can? Can they really break the backs of office seekers who disagree with them? Or are they bluffing?

Have Republicans been taking it on the chin since 1932, except for the Eisenhower sweep and temporary flurries of strength in Congress, because the labor leaders actually were so powerful or because their party was weak?

And did Republicans weaken it unnecessarily by me-too campaigns in which they tried to match Democrats in wooing the left, or should they have gone even further than the Democrats and promised the moon and the stars too?

THE ONLY WAY to stimulate a stepped-up expansion of wealth-producing enterprise is to gain the confidence of conservatives who dominate management and finance.

Who is going to do this if the political party in power makes hostility to enterprise a cardinal point in its appeal for votes?

These now are nagging questions, especially in the White House, occupied by a scion of wealth who has fitted himself into a New Deal mold to keep the "friendship" of labor leaders demanding hostility to enterprise as the price of their political support.

President Kennedy wants to be a success in politics. He wants a second term. He wants to be a strong president. He will have to decide whether he can be these things and organized labor's official business-baiter.

He may have to borrow an item of wisdom from his predecessor and try to be the president of all kinds of Americans, including those who voted for Richard M. Nixon. Among them, according to the closeness of the hairbreadth outcome, must have been a great many unionists.

Put Down That Stone, Mister

Some of the same viewers with alarm who were indignant about dissension in the Congo now are indignant about throat-cutting in Algeria.

It is deplorable when brothers who were willing to die side by side while trying to kill Frenchmen prove to be equally willing to kill one another.

Algerians will put so much tarnish on their newly gained independence if they drift into civil war that no one will give them credit for noble aspirations; they will be known only for their passion to destroy one another.

If their so-called leaders can think of nothing better to do with their energy and the devotion of their followers than stir up the baser passions of hordes of undisciplined people, they will deserve what they will get —a violent death at the hands of a blood-thirsty mob.

BUT BEFORE citizens of the United States cast the first stone at Algerians to show disapproval, they should think a long time—longer than they thought before they lashed out at the Congo. They're still lashing out at it, as a matter of fact, with a view to proving the Congo never should have been permitted to strike out for itself because its politicians can't agree.

In the United States the record shows that the War of Independence was carried on with the handicap of the Tories' bitter disapproval. The Continental Congress effectually crippled the revolution by squabbling while George Washington's half-hearted army went hungry and ill-clothed.

There never was a time when the untried and insure hands that shaped American independence quit groping for the throats of brothers; they even groped for the throat of the Father of His Country.

There was no unity. Integrity was rare. Rancor finally exploded in a civil war known to this day as the bloodiest conflict of its kind. And to this day the rancor that caused the Civil War is still festering. The United States is still divided despite an arrangement of convenience that keeps it under the same roof.

IT WAS NOT a bright and pretty thing when it happened here. Skeptics said it proved what they had warned would be true.

They said Americans lacked the intelligence and patience to rule themselves and should have let the British continue to do the job.

They said the few Britons who opposed George III's harsh policy for quelling the rebellions were traitors and fools.

As it was to turn out, the American revolution and the terrible events that ensued were to become less important than the ultimate result of giving freedom to people who were not prepared to use it properly at the time.

There are no hands without guilt to cast the first stone at Algeria if it has a civil war.

Are Defense Strikes Avoidable?

Settlement of a Groton, Conn., strike that had tied up nuclear submarine production for 13 days caused no happy cries of "Well done"—no congratulations.

When people are putting billions of dollars on the line for their national defense, nothing raises more misgivings than strikes by defense workers. There should be a way to stop strikes on defense projects. There must be some better way to settle disputes between labor and management than to cut the country's throat.

A consultant on labor relations, Leon M. Labes, reasons that there should be a new, independent Labor and Management Administration to act as the ultimate authority in cases where negotiation fails. If the federal government is going to exert influence, it should do the job right.

The new agency would be staffed by experts appointed for life, like federal judges. Their recommendations would be binding, in the sense that their authority and prestige would be so clearly established no one would dare to defy them, unless willing to risk losing the support of public opinion.

"Ours is generally a law-abiding citizenry," reasons the author of the proposal. "We are inclined by our entire way of life to accept the determination of an impartial tribunal as to the merits of our contentions. Particularly is this true when there is a right to appeal. It would be the rare and exceptional situation in which enough sentiment could be whipped up for a strike or lockout where a civilized procedure is available for the disposition of the problems involved."

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Your piece about how athletic coaches deserve all the hard luck they get and nobody should feel sorry when they get fired is certainly a low blow to these stalwart molders of character, developers of good sportsmanship and innocent whipping posts.

If anything is the bane of this world, it is Monday morning quarterbacks, not coaches.

Some of my best friends are coaches—and don't you forget that!

In a remarkable example of perverted reasoning you say, "As long as these people claim credit for success, they deserve blame for failure. If it's impossible to give credit where it's due, no one should squawk about placing blame where it doesn't belong."

The best answer to the first part of your statement is right out of the mouth of the Old Perfesser, Casey Stengel, himself. After his Yankees had won a recent World Series he stood right up on television and told the whole country, "I couldn't a-done it witout da playeers."

You couldn't ask for any more honesty than that.

As for the second part of your statement about placing blame, you evidently believe two wrongs make a right. This is a perfect sample of the fuzzy thinking so prevalent today. Give 'em hell first and ask questions later.

What you are really advocating is anarchy, a ship without a captain, a corporation without a president, a state without a head.

You no doubt know that most coaches are good family men who are only trying to make a living and this largely depends upon the success of their teams. You can't blame them for trying to make themselves look good.

That Annual Splitting Headache

Why Do We Still Help Tito?

By Victor Riesel

ATHENS

A mystery plane streaked across Greece on March 30. It refused to identify itself. In a few minutes skilled Greek fliers forced it down. The strange plane, it developed, had been in the control of the personal pilot of Egypt's dictator, Gamal Nasser. It was strange indeed — for it had some $2 million in gold bullion aboard. And it was headed for Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Victor Riesel

The Egyptian pilot was returned to Cairo. Later, my informant tells me, the plane and the gold followed. Why this bullion was headed for Tito's capital no one quite knows. The point is that Nasser, an outspoken critic and international opponent of the United States and a neo-Socialist, trusted his friend Tito sufficiently to place the gold in his care.

I report this because of the controversy back home over aid to Communist Yugoslavia.

How does it happen that Yugoslavia is constantly dealing with our enemies and gets our aid, while such lands as Greece, whose people's blood drenched the countryside during the Communist invasion a decade ago, get their U.S. aid slashed?

There are many instances of Tito's wooing the Iron Curtain bloc up north. Shortly after I flew into central Europe I learned of the visit to Moscow of a topside Yugoslavian delegation.

THAT WAS on the afternoon of July 2. The delegation was headed by none other than Yugoslavian vice president Mijalko Todorovic. With Tito spending more and more time away from his administrative offices, Todorovic is mighty topside. He runs much of the nation. He is philosophically, intellectually, politically, and in any other fashion, anti-United States.

His mission to Moscow was to negotiate with the Russians for the expansion of economic cooperation between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia. Obviously the Kremlin placed high priority on all this. At the Vnukovo Airport to greet Todorovic were none other than First Deputy Premier Mikoyan, First Deputy Minister of Foreign Trade Arkhipov, Deputy Foreign Minister Firyubin, and the rest of the Soviet economic delegation to the negotiations. Mikoyan will head this negotiating committee.

It can be reported positively that during their talks the Russians found considerable sympathy among the Yugoslavs on one point the Khrushchev people believe most important: The Russians want the Belgrade government to fight the Common Market. The Kremlin wants the Yugoslavs to come into the "Comecon" — the Soviet counterpart of our Common Market.

Todorovic indicated he was for it and would try to prevail on his people to take such a stand. Such a move would mean open economic warfare with us and our allies — even while we are pouring millions into Yugoslavia.

NOR IS THIS the only sign of alignment between Belgrade and the Communist International. The Soviets have given tanks to the Yugoslavs. Why? Certainly not because they expect the Tito government to use them against the Sino-Soviet bloc in an emergency.

The Belgrade government now has drawn closer to the tough Communist government in Sofia, Bulgaria. Thus there is a tightening of the lines between Moscow and Belgrade and the satellites.

Certainly the Yugoslavs will not become one of the Soviet's satellites. But the sentiment in many foreign diplomatic circles is that Belgrade will parallel Moscow. Parallelism is as dangerous to us as satellite - ism. Furthermore, many of our friends among the free nations see us supporting parallelism. They say to themselves that the U.S. really doesn't know what it is doing with its money and support. So we lose face and considerable prestige.

There also is another Belgrade export which few back home know anything about. The Yugoslav export is invisible. It is the spreading of the doctrine of a type of national socialism and "works councils" to run factories. This means that a shop or factory committee really decides how a plant shall operate, how its produce shall be distributed, what wages shall be paid and whether there should be profits to the state, or to some private investor.

THIS PHILOSOPHY of production is being shipped to such lands as Algeria, Ghana, and even far-off Dahomey, where the U.S. and our allies have considerable investments. Those investments will be worth nothing if Yugoslavia succeeds in spreading its form of works-councils socialism and controlled production throughout Africa.

Our ambassador to Belgrade, George Kennan, has said that criticism of aid to Yugoslavia is "vindictive" action. That hardly seems fair on Mr. Kennan's part.

Is it vindictive to oppose honestly the spread of Tito's type of Communism and to object strenuously to his constant cooperation with the enemies of the U.S.?

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1826, Daniel Webster delivered the eulogy to John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the second and third U.S. presidents, respectively, both of whom died on July 4, 1826. It was in this speech that the famed orator employed the now famous phrase, "Sink or swim, live or die."

On this date:

Confused Senate

By David Lawrence

It Reflects Breakdown Of Democratic Party

On the surface, the Senate is in a state of utter confusion. Actually, it is reflecting the breakdown of the Democratic party and a seeming inability to follow the guidance or advice of either President Kennedy or the duly-chosen leaders of the upper house. Theoretically, the row is about a bill to let private companies develop a communications system by using satellites like Telstar. But that issue isn't broad enough to cause all the hullabaloo it has in the last few days.

David Lawrence

President Kennedy is for the measure, and it would be passed by an overwhelming majority if it could be brought to a vote. There is as good a reason why telephone service by satellites should be left in the hands of private companies, subject as usual to government regulation of rates, as there is for telephone communication by private companies to be maintained, as it is, under the sea, or by direct radio.

The bill to deal with the satellite system of telephone communication, however, has afforded an excuse for an outbreak by so-called "liberals."

Among them there is no real solidarity, or even any excessive amount of political virtue.

Some are sore because President Kennedy isn't channeling enough money to their states in an election year. Some are upset about legislative measures for which they want a preference that they are not getting.

On the whole, it seems strange to see a filibuster conducted by those who like to feel that the term "Liberal" applies to them, because they hitherto have condemned this as the unrighteous tactic of Southerners intent on blocking "civil rights" legislation. What it proves, of course, is that everything depends on whose ox is being gored.

PERHAPS the most oft-repeated comment heard about the plight of the Senate is that it misses Lyndon Johnson's leadership. As vice President, he is not able to do what he did as majority leader.

The story one hears is that Mr. Johnson used to plead and cajole and "deal and deal." He had a resourceful array of maneuvers and, besides, was intimately in touch with the late Speaker Sam Rayburn so that when it was desirable to push a legislative measure to the front the tall Texan could accomplish that feat with a few telephone calls across the capitol.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the new majority leader, is a man of a different type. He doesn't like some of the machinations of so-called practical politics. He likes to feel that legislators should be above tactics that appeal to their materialistic senses.

At times he seems frustrated and disappointed and like a man who wishes he were not called upon to make deals.

But, as the weeks go on, grievances pile up. Coincidentally, White House influence tends to fluctuate. Also, whenever a President's curve of popularity in the public-opinion polls takes a decided drop, Congress seems to exhibit a more independent or at least a less subservient attitude toward White House emissaries who practice the art of cajolery on Capitol Hill.

SEN. PAUL DOUGLAS of Illinois, Democrat, regarded as one of the powerful members of the "liberal" bloc, made a significant comment in this connection the other day as he was being interviewed by Republican Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York. Mr. Douglas declared:

"Now the truth of the matter is that we have not two parties in Congress, but four parties. We have a liberal Democratic party, which is overwhelmingly predominant in the North and West, and a conservative Democratic party, which is overwhelmingly predominant in the South. And we have a conservative Republican party, which is overwhelmingly predominant in most sections of the country with a small but very fine liberal wing largely confined to the northeastern states. This is the basic difficulty. We have a cleavage — a very great cleavage — and most of our southern Democrats vote with the conservative Republicans. It is this bipartisan alliance — which I have called the 'unholy alliance' — which has dominated Congress for 24 years."

The figure of speech didn't stand up too well this week. It was Northern "liberals" and Southern conservatives who joined together in an alliance to oppose the use of the cloture rule that would terminate the filibuster.

Does it prove the so-called "liberals" and so-called "conservatives" are really no different under the skin?

Or does it prove that each case stands alone and basic principles and party discipline have become old - fashioned in an era of irresponsible government?

925-Mile Border

By Tom Lambert

SAIGON — As are all military headquarters and command posts everywhere, those here are filled with maps. They show South Vietnamese military districts, locations of various South Vietnamese, American and Communists units, roads, air fields, rivers, harbors and mountains.

Menacingly, some of them show red-shaded or red-splotched areas in South Viet Nam dominated by Communist Viet Cong forces, areas which shift and slide like windblown sand as black-calico clad Viet Cong soldiers drift smokelike across rice paddies, along mountain trails or through jungle thickets from one region to another.

The most menacing line on South Vietnamese maps is not the sharp slash of the 17th Parallel separating this country from Communist North Viet Nam. That line, as a matter of fact, has been stable and seems relatively serene.

THE MOST MENACING line is a straggling 925-mile-long thread twisting and curling down from the 17th Parallel in the western part of this country, dipping southeast, then south, then trailing off to the southwest into the Gulf of Siam.

This is South Viet Nam's border line with three-quarters-Communist-held Laos and neutral Cambodia. By international usage the line should be a barrier against unauthorized entry into this country. Actually, it is an open door into South Viet Nam for Communists with their Moscow and other Red capital-supplied murder weapons from North Viet Nam — a massive, threatening open flank.

Unless that border can be sealed against the Communists — and United States pressure on Laos to accept Communist - orientated "neutrality," plus Cambodia's pretentions to neutrality even as Communists ebb and flow across its borders with South Viet Nam, make that possibility extremely doubtful — war here will go on for years.

Most Communist North Vietnamese coming here move into South Viet Nam along the so-called Ho Chi Minh trail, actually a route of many trails, roads and streams rather than a single path.

IT IS NOT KNOWN precisely where the Ho Chi Minh trail begins in North Viet Nam, but it runs into Laos somewhere in the vicinity of the 17th Parallel.

It bears directly then into Tchepone, Laotian terminus of the Soviet arms airlift from the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi. In the past month, according to unconfirmed reports here, Soviet pilots from either Tchepone or Hanoi have made airdrops of weapons twice to the Viet Cong who have moved east into South Viet Nam along one branch of the Ho Chi Minh trail.

In an attempt to restrict the use of the Ho Chi Minh trail by North Vietnamese soldiery, South Viet Nam has instituted some border patrols and the Americans hope to install some ground radar sets to see whether they can detect frontier crossers.

But the length of South Viet Bam's Laos - Cambodia frontier and its plungings into mountains, jungles and forests spell nightmares for those trying to seal it, and their efforts thus far have been almost fruitless.

In addition to flue-cured and burley, the U.S. Department of Agriculture lists nine other types of tobacco grown in the United States. An All-American President

If everybody agrees that fading confidence is slowing down the growth of enterprise in the United States and that only a change of government attitude can strengthen confidence, what are we waiting for?

Why doesn't the Kennedy administration do what we have been told the governments of other countries are doing—throw all its support behind the expansion of enterprise? Why should it scare off producers of wealth?

The key to this economic mystery is a belief that has had a powerful effect on two-party politics since the mid-'30s. This belief may or may not be founded in fact. But even if it springs from fantasy and folklore, it's still powerful.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY holds it to be an article of faith that it must believe whatever labor leaders of the country who profess to be Democrats say it should believe. These people believe, in turn, that the only way they can stay at the top of their exclusive occupational group is to pretend to be hostile to employers, managers, financiers and professed disciples of free enterprise.

Whether they all believe this personally is questionable. Most of them are hard-headed realists whose eyes are focused sharply on the source of their institutional and personal income, which certainly is not socialism or any other form of anti-capitalism.

But as long as they preach antagonism to enterprise in their public statements, spokesmen for the political party they dominate will sing the same tune. The Democratic party will inspire no confidence in the business community.

THE QUESTION is now and has been for more than 25 years whether union leaders who bait business, even to the point of advocating state capitalism, represent their constituents, or whether these men are personally dominated by the idelogies of powerful associates at the expense of American Unionism.

Democratic politicians share with Republicans a throbbing curiosity about the real power of union bosses. Can the bosses deliver the votes they say they can? Can they really break the backs of office seekers who disagree with them? Or are they bluffing?

Have Republicans been taking it on the chin since 1932, except for the Eisenhower sweep and temporary flurries of strength in Congress, because the labor leaders actually were so powerful or because their party was weak?

And did Republicans weaken it unnecessarily by me-too campaigns in which they tried to match Democrats in wooing the left, or should they have gone even further than the Democrats and promised the moon and the stars too?

THE ONLY WAY to stimulate a stepped-up expansion of wealth-producing enterprise is to gain the confidence of conservatives who dominate management and finance.

Who is going to do this if the political party in power makes hostility to enterprise a cardinal point in its appeal for votes?

These now are nagging questions, especially in the White House, occupied by a scion of wealth who has fitted himself into a New Deal mold to keep the "friendship" of labor leaders demanding hostility to enterprise as the price of their political support.

President Kennedy wants to be a success in politics. He wants a second term. He wants to be a strong president. He will have to decide whether he can be these things and organized labor's official business-baiter.

He may have to borrow an item of wisdom from his predecessor and try to be the president of all kinds of Americans, including those who voted for Richard M. Nixon. Among them, according to the closeness of the hairbreadth outcome, must have been a great many unionists.

Put Down That Stone, Mister

Some of the same viewers with alarm who were indignant about dissension in the Congo now are indignant about throat-cutting in Algeria.

It is deplorable when brothers who were willing to die side by side while trying to kill Frenchmen prove to be equally willing to kill one another.

Algerians will put so much tarnish on their newly gained independence if they drift into civil war that no one will give them credit for noble aspirations; they will be known only for their passion to destroy one another.

If their so-called leaders can think of nothing better to do with their energy and the devotion of their followers than stir up the baser passions of hordes of undisciplined people, they will deserve what they will get —a violent death at the hands of a bloodthirsty mob.

BUT BEFORE citizens of the United States cast the first stone at Algerians to show disapproval, they should think a long time—longer than they thought before they lashed out at the Congo. They're still lashing out at it, as a matter of fact, with a view to proving the Congo never should have been permitted to strike out for itself because its politicians can't agree.

In the United States the record shows that the War of Independence was carried on with the handicap of the Tories' bitter disapproval. The Continental Congress effectually crippled the revolution by squabbling while George Washington's half-hearted army went hungry and ill-clothed.

There never was a time when the untried and insure hands that shaped American independence quit groping for the throats of brothers; they even groped for the throat of the Father of His Country.

There was no unity. Integrity was rare. Rancor finally exploded in a civil war known to this day as the bloodiest conflict of its kind. And to this day the rancor that caused the Civil War is still festering. The United States is still divided despite an arrangement of convenience that keeps it under the same roof.

IT WAS NOT a bright and pretty thing when it happened here. Skeptics said it proved what they had warned would be true.

They said Americans lacked the intelligence and patience to rule themselves and should have let the British continue to do the job.

They said the few Britons who opposed George III's harsh policy for quelling the rebellions were traitors and fools.

As it was to turn out, the American revolution and the terrible events that ensued were to become less important than the ultimate result of giving freedom to people who were not prepared to use it properly at the time.

There are no hands without guilt to cast the first stone at Algeria if it has a civil war.

Are Defense Strikes Avoidable?

Settlement of a Groton, Conn., strike that had tied up nuclear submarine production for 13 days caused no happy cries of "Well done"—no congratulations.

When people are putting billions of dollars on the line for their national defense, nothing raises more misgivings than strikes by defense workers. There should be a way to stop strikes on defense projects. There must be some better way to settle disputes between labor and management than to cut the country's throat.

A consultant on labor relations, Leon M. Labes, reasons that there should be a new, independent Labor and Management Administration to act as the ultimate authority in cases where negotiation fails. If the federal government is going to exert influence, it should do the job right.

The new agency would be staffed by experts appointed for life, like federal judges. Their recommendations would be binding, in the sense that their authority and prestige would be so clearly established no one would dare to defy them, unless willing to risk losing the support of public opinion.

"Ours is generally a law-abiding citizenry," reasons the author of the proposal. "We are inclined by our entire way of life to accept the determination of an impartial tribunal as to the merits of our contentions. Particularly is this true when there is a right to appeal. It would be the rare and exceptional situation in which enough sentiment could be whipped up for a strike or lockout where a civilized procedure is available for the disposition of the problems involved."

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Your piece about how athletic coaches deserve all the hard luck they get and nobody should feel sorry when they get fired is certainly a low blow to these stalwart molders of character, developers of good sportsmanship and innocent whipping posts.

If anything is the bane of this world, it is Monday morning quarterbacks, not coaches.

Some of my best friends are coaches—and don't you forget that!

In a remarkable example of perverted reasoning you say, "As long as these people claim credit for success, they deserve blame for failure. If it's impossible to give credit where it's due, no one should squawk about placing blame where it doesn't belong."

The best answer to the first part of your statement is right out of the mouth of the Old Perfesser, Casey Stengel, himself. After his Yankees had won a recent World Series he stood right up on television and told the whole country, "I couldn't a-done it witout da playeers."

You couldn't ask for any more honesty than that.

As for the second part of your statement about placing blame, you evidently believe two wrongs make a right. This is a perfect sample of the fuzzy thinking so prevalent today. Give 'em hell first and ask questions later.

What you are really advocating is anarchy, a ship without a captain, a corporation without a president, a state without a head.

You no doubt know that most coaches are good family men who are only trying to make a living and this largely depends upon the success of their teams. You can't blame them for trying to make themselves look good.

That Annual Splitting Headache

Why Do We Still Help Tito?

By Victor Riesel

ATHENS

A mystery plane streaked across Greece on March 30. It refused to identify itself. In a few minutes skilled Greek fliers forced it down. The strange plane, it developed, had been in the control of the personal pilot of Egypt's dictator, Gamal Nasser. It was strange indeed — for it had some $2 million in gold bullion aboard. And it was headed for Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Victor Riesel

The Egyptian pilot was returned to Cairo. Later, my informant tells me, the plane and the gold followed. Why this bullion was headed for Tito's capital no one quite knows. The point is that Nasser, an outspoken critic and international opponent of the United States and a neo-Socialist, trusted his friend Tito sufficiently to place the gold in his care.

I report this because of the controversy back home over aid to Communist Yugoslavia.

How does it happen that Yugoslavia is constantly dealing with our enemies and gets our aid, while such lands as Greece, whose people's blood drenched the countryside during the Communist invasion a decade ago, get their U.S. aid slashed?

There are many instances of Tito's wooing the Iron Curtain bloc up north. Shortly after I flew into central Europe I learned of the visit to Moscow of a topside Yugoslavian delegation.

THAT WAS on the afternoon of July 2. The delegation was headed by none other than Yugoslavian vice president Mijalko Todorovic. With Tito spending more and more time away from his administrative offices, Todorovic is mighty topside. He runs much of the nation. He is philosophically, intellectually, politically, and in any other fashion, anti-United States.

His mission to Moscow was to negotiate with the Russians for the expansion of economic cooperation between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia. Obviously the Kremlin placed high priority on all this. At the Vnukovo Airport to greet Todorovic were none other than First Deputy Premier Mikoyan, First Deputy Minister of Foreign Trade Arkhipov, Deputy Foreign Minister Firyubin, and the rest of the Soviet economic delegation to the negotiations. Mikoyan will head this negotiating committee.

It can be reported positively that during their talks the Russians found considerable sympathy among the Yugoslavs on one point the Khrushchev people believe most important: The Russians want the Belgrade government to fight the Common Market. The Kremlin wants the Yugoslavs to come into the "Comecon" — the Soviet counterpart of our Common Market.

Todorovic indicated he was for it and would try to prevail on his people to take such a stand. Such a move would mean open economic warfare with us and our allies — even while we are pouring millions into Yugoslavia.

NOR IS THIS the only sign of alignment between Belgrade and the Communist International. The Soviets have given tanks to the Yugoslavs. Why? Certainly not because they expect the Tito government to use them against the Sino-Soviet bloc in an emergency.

The Belgrade government now has drawn closer to the tough Communist government in Sofia, Bulgaria. Thus there is a tightening of the lines between Moscow and Belgrade and the satellites.

Certainly the Yugoslavs will not become one of the Soviet's satellites. But the sentiment in many foreign diplomatic circles is that Belgrade will parallel Moscow. Parallelism is as dangerous to us as satellite - ism. Furthermore, many of our friends among the free nations see us supporting parallelism. They say to themselves that the U.S. really doesn't know what it is doing with its money and support. So we lose face and considerable prestige.

There also is another Belgrade export which few back home know anything about. The Yugoslav export is invisible. It is the spreading of the doctrine of a type of national socialism and "works councils" to run factories. This means that a shop or factory committee really decides how a plant shall operate, how its produce shall be distributed, what wages shall be paid and whether there should be profits to the state, or to some private investor.

THIS PHILOSOPHY of production is being shipped to such lands as Algeria, Ghana, and even far-off Dahomey, where the U.S. and our allies have considerable investments. Those investments will be worth nothing if Yugoslavia succeeds in spreading its form of works-councils socialism and controlled production throughout Africa.

Our ambassador to Belgrade, George Kennan, has said that criticism of aid to Yugoslavia is "vindictive" action. That hardly seems fair on Mr. Kennan's part.

Is it vindictive to oppose honestly the spread of Tito's type of Communism and to object strenuously to his constant cooperation with the enemies of the U.S.?

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1826, Daniel Webster delivered the eulogy to John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the second and third U.S. presidents, respectively, both of whom died on July 4, 1826. It was in this speech that the famed orator employed the now famous phrase, "Sink or swim, live or die."

On this date:

Confused Senate

By David Lawrence

It Reflects Breakdown Of Democratic Party

On the surface, the Senate is in a state of utter confusion. Actually, it is reflecting the breakdown of the Democratic party and a seeming inability to follow the guidance or advice of either President Kennedy or the duly chosen leaders of the upper house. Theoretically, the row is about a bill to let private companies develop a communications system by using satellites like Telstar. But that issue isn't broad enough to cause all the hullabaloo it has in the last few days.

David Lawrence

President Kennedy is for the measure, and it would be passed by an overwhelming majority if it could be brought to a vote. There is as good a reason why telephone service by satellites should be left in the hands of private companies, subject as usual to government regulation of rates, as there is for telephone communication by private companies to be maintained, as it is, under the sea, or by direct radio.

The bill to deal with the satellite system of telephone communication, however, has afforded an excuse for an outbreak by so-called "liberals."

Among them there is no real solidarity, or even any excessive amount of political virtue.

Some are sore because President Kennedy isn't channeling enough money to their states in an election year. Some are upset about legislative measures for which they want a preference that they are not getting.

On the whole, it seems strange to see a filibuster conducted by those who like to feel that the term "Liberal" applies to them, because they hitherto have condemned this as the unrighteous tactic of Southerners intent on blocking "civil rights" legislation. What it proves, of course, is that everything depends on whose ox is being gored.

PERHAPS the most oft-repeated comment heard about the plight of the Senate is that it misses Lyndon Johnson's leadership. As vice President, he is not able to do what he did as majority leader.

The story one hears is that Mr. Johnson used to plead and cajole and "deal and deal." He had a resourceful array of maneuvers and, besides, was intimately in touch with the late Speaker Sam Rayburn so that when it was desirable to push a legislative measure to the front the tall Texan could accomplish that feat with a few telephone calls across the capitol.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the new majority leader, is a man of a different type. He doesn't like some of the machinations of so-called practical politics. He likes to feel that legislators should be above tactics that appeal to their materialistic senses.

At times he seems frustrated and disappointed and like a man who wishes he were not called upon to make deals.

But, as the weeks go on, grievances pile up. Coincidentally, White House influence tends to fluctuate. Also, whenever a President's curve of popularity in the public-opinion polls takes a decided drop, Congress seems to exhibit a more independent or at least a less subservient attitude toward White House emissaries who practice the art of cajolery on Capitol Hill.

SEN. PAUL DOUGLAS of Illinois, Democrat, regarded as one of the powerful members of the "liberal" bloc, made a significant comment in this connection the other day as he was being interviewed by Republican Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York. Mr. Douglas declared:

"Now the truth of the matter is that we have not two parties in Congress, but four parties. We have a liberal Democratic party, which is overwhelmingly predominant in the North and West, and a conservative Democratic party, which is overwhelmingly predominant in the South. And we have a conservative Republican party, which is overwhelmingly predominant in most sections of the country with a small but very fine liberal wing largely confined to the northeastern states. This is the basic difficulty. We have a cleavage — a very great cleavage — and most of our southern Democrats vote with the conservative Republicans. It is this bipartisan alliance — which I have called the 'unholy alliance' — which has dominated Congress for 24 years."

The figure of speech didn't stand up too well this week. It was Northern "liberals" and Southern conservatives who joined together in an alliance to oppose the use of the cloture rule that would terminate the filibuster.

Does it prove the so-called "liberals" and so-called "conservatives" are really no different under the skin?

Or does it prove that each case stands alone and basic principles and party discipline have become old - fashioned in an era of irresponsible government?

925-Mile Border

By Tom Lambert

SAIGON — As are all military headquarters and command posts everywhere, those here are filled with maps. They show South Vietnamese military districts, locations of various South Vietnamese, American and Communists units, roads, air fields, rivers, harbors and mountains.

Menacingly, some of them show red-shaded or red-splotched areas in South Viet Nam dominated by Communist Viet Cong forces, areas which shift and slide like windblown sand as black-calico clad Viet Cong soldiers drift smokelike across rice paddies, along mountain trails or through jungle thickets from one region to another.

The most menacing line on South Vietnamese maps is not the sharp slash of the 17th Parallel separating this country from Communist North Viet Nam. That line, as a matter of fact, has been stable and seems relatively serene.

THE MOST MENACING line is a straggling 925-mile-long thread twisting and curling down from the 17th Parallel in the western part of this country, dipping southeast, then south, then trailing off to the southwest into the Gulf of Siam.

This is South Viet Nam's border line with three-quarters-Communist-held Laos and neutral Cambodia. By international usage the line should be a barrier against unauthorized entry into this country. Actually, it is an open door into South Viet Nam for Communists with their Moscow and other Red capital-supplied murder weapons from North Viet Nam — a massive, threatening open flank.

Unless that border can be sealed against the Communists — and United States pressure on Laos to accept Communist - orientated "neutrality," plus Cambodia's pretentions to neutrality even as Communists ebb and flow across its borders with South Viet Nam, make that possibility extremely doubtful — war here will go on for years.

Most Communist North Vietnamese coming here move into South Viet Nam along the so-called Ho Chi Minh trail, actually a route of many trails, roads and streams rather than a single path.

IT IS NOT KNOWN precisely where the Ho Chi Minh trail begins in North Viet Nam, but it runs into Laos somewhere in the vicinity of the 17th Parallel.

It bears directly then into Tchepone, Laotian terminus of the Soviet arms airlift from the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi. In the past month, according to unconfirmed reports here, Soviet pilots from either Tchepone or Hanoi have made airdrops of weapons twice to the Viet Cong who have moved east into South Viet Nam along one branch of the Ho Chi Minh trail.

In an attempt to restrict the use of the Ho Chi Minh trail by North Vietnamese soldiery, South Viet Nam has instituted some border patrols and the Americans hope to install some ground radar sets to see whether they can detect frontier crossers.

But the length of South Viet Nam's Laos - Cambodia frontier and its plungings into mountains, jungles and forests spell nightmares for those trying to seal it, and their efforts thus far have been almost fruitless.

Kennedy Pits U.S. Record Against GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy isn't happy with the state of the economy. But he is willing to match statistics with the Republicans on this issue in the congressional campaign.

Kennedy contended at Wednesday's news conference his administration's record on production, incomes, business profits — and even stock prices—is better than levels attained under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And he discounted a national poll which indicated 72 per cent of those questioned opposed a tax cut that would put the government further in debt. Republicans felt this poll sustained their position.

Kennedy said the results might have been different if those polled had been asked if they favored a tax cut as a means of combatting a recession which would further increase the debt. He reminded that in 1958, under Eisenhower, there was no tax reduction when the deficit hit a peacetime record.

He called encouraging the report that unemployment fell by 450,000 in July to its lowest rate in two years.

The President thus summed up the Democratic position on what Republicans have begun to point to as possibly the outstanding issue in their efforts to win control of the House and increase their Senate holdings.

In response to a question, Kennedy specifically took on Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and spokesman for party conservatives. Gold water has predicted any further slide in the economy will damage the Democrats.

Kennedy said he isn't satisfied with present conditions because "there is still a gap between what we are doing and what we could do, based on our manpower and on our plant capacity."

He said his administration is trying to do something about lifting the level of the economy while Republicans like Goldwater oppose the proposals he has made.

He cited as examples a Senate-passed bill giving him standby authority to initiate public works projects if a recession threatens and a youth employment measure on which neither house has acted.

Kennedy said that since he took office the gross national product was up 10 per cent and incomes an equal amount. He said profits had climbed from $40 billion to $50 billion a year and stock prices —despite the market's slump—stand five points higher than when he was inaugurated.

City Contract Let To Standard For Gasoline And Oil

Mayor Bert H. Goodbalet and Safety - Service Director Robert Owen awarded a contract Wednesday afternoon to the Standard Oil Co.'s Youngstown office for a year's supply of gasoline, oil and other petroleum products for use of the street, incinerator, fire and police departments.

Standard submitted the only bid Tuesday to the Board of Control, comprised of the two officials. A local concern had promised to file an offer, but one of its officials said it failed to act because he forgot the deadline.

Standard's bid covers regular and high test gasoline and diesel fuel at posted dealer prices at the time of delivery. It also covers various grades of motor oil at prices ranging from 60 cents to 83 cents a gallon and hydraulic oil at 43, 64 and 83 cents a gallon, depending upon type.

Owen said the board has not taken action yet on a series of bids opened July 13 for purchase of a new mechanical street sweeper. One of the models offered to the city was demonstrated to officials Wednesday.

Mutual Aid Approved By Franklin Firemen

SUMMITVILLE — Franklin Township volunteer fire department trustees Wednesday night voted to enter in a planned mutual aid agreement with other area fire units, sponsored by the Columbiana County Firemen's Association.

Ralph Cox, president, reported on a recent meeting of the county group at which the proposed agreement was aired. Bills totaling $50 were paid.

The next monthly meeting will be announced because Wade Clark, clerk, is scheduled to enter Alliance City Hospital for eye surgery shortly and the regular meeting will not be held.

Low Bid Is $603,770 On Palestine Project

EAST PALESTINE — The General Electric Co. offices at Youngstown submitted the apparent low bid of $603,770 for a new turbo-generator for the municipal power plant Wednesday.

Four firms submitted offers to the Board of Control for the generator, final phase of a $1.2-million improvement project at the city facility.

Other bidders were Allis-Chalmers, $618,500; Worthing Co., $618,856, and Westinghouse Corp., $659,500. The bids are being studied by the board.

The phonograph was patented by Thomas A. Edison in 1878, and his first record made on the instrument was the nursery rhyme, "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

British End Thor Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. missiles will take over Communist targets now assigned to 60 British-manned Thor rockets after they are taken off their pads.

American authorities disclosed this today following a British announcement that the above-ground, vulnerable Thor missile bases in Britain will be closed down during the coming year.

U.S. informants said the basis of the British action was financial. They suggested the money Britain saves in this way may be used to strengthen her conventional forces—including those assigned to NATO—and said this meets with U.S. approval.

By that time, the United States will have nearly doubled its fleet of Polaris-missile-firing submarines from the present nine to 17. The Navy considers them virtually invulnerable to attack.

President Kennedy told his news conference late Wednesday the British gave the United States advance notice of their intention to end the Thor agreement. He said it should have no adverse effect on the defense of Europe.

Under this pact, the United States supplied about $190 million worth of missiles and other equipment while the British chipped in with about $33.6 million for launch sites and related expenses.

Crew Relocates Part Of Broken Water Line

A water department crew is expected to finish work today on installation of two 10-foot sections of 10-inch pipe at the site of a Bradshaw Ave. water main break on which work has been proceeding since July 21, Supt. Donald T. Duke said today.

The two new sections will place the line above a six-foot brick culvert. When the main broke, it was located beneath the culvert, complicating the repair, Duke explained.

When today's job is finished, the department will mark time until the arrival of additional sections of 10-inch pipe that will be used to relocate about 150 feet of the main so that it passes over the culvert. A faulty valve was repaired last week at Ravine St. and Bradshaw, allowing the crew to turn off water which had been flooding the excavation around the break.

Amish Buggy, Car Hit; Five Go To Hospital

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Five persons were hospitalized and electric power was interrupted in two communities after a car sideswiped an Amish buggy late Wednesday.

Reported in fair condition at Dunlap Memorial hospital in Orrville were Simon Byler, 17, of Apple Creek and his brothers, John, 16, and Edward, 15; Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 65, and Mrs. Suzzie Yoder, 38, both of Beach City.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said a car driven by Byler sideswiped a buggy driven by Mrs. Miller's husband, David, 65. The car then spun out of control, sideswiped several trees and snapped a main utility pole in half, disrupting electric service to Mount Eaton and Wilmot for several hours.

DiSalle Raps Critics Of His Welfare Plan

PAULDING, Ohio (AP) -- Gov. Michael V. DiSalle today challenged critics of administration spending for the aged, for retarded children, for the mentally ill, sick and needy.

"How can you tell a person 80 years old and over to go out and get a job if he wants to eat?", the Democrat incumbent asked a breakfast meeting here on a re-election campaign swing through five counties.

DiSalle said the average age of old age pensioners is 80. Ohio has 70 pensioners over age 100, he added.

"How far can the average individual go with $64 a month?" the governor asked. Remember this must pay for food, shelter, clothing, utilities—everything. This is a statewide average."

DiSalle scheduled appearances during the day in Van Wert, Mercer, Auglaize and Shelby counties.

After a dinner meeting in Sidney, he planned to fly directly to Washington for a Friday conference with President Kennedy and other officials to urge additional mileage for Cincinnati's Circle Freeway, an interstate highway project.

City Firm's Owner Buys Stark Plant

Daniel G. Richman, who operates the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. in East End and other plants, has purchased the Griscom - Russell Division of the Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp. at Massillon.

The plant was sold in June but the fact that the 36-year-old Cleveland industrialist was the buyer was just announced.

Officials of Griscom - Russell said then Richman would operate a good portion of the plant and employ 175 to 200 persons at the start. Plans for production are incomplete, however.

Besides the East Liverpool facility, Richman operates the International Process Equipment Co. in Dayton and the $7 million Ludlow Valve Manufacturing Co. of Troy and Cohoes, N. Y.

Lumber Firm Burns

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Ray Thomas Lumber Co. just north of here along Ohio 77 suffered damage unofficially estimated at between $50,000 and $100,000 in a fire late Wednesday.

Grass Fires Hit Midland District

Midland and Industry had two grass fires each Wednesday afternoon with the one at the Rosa farm in Industry destroying a barn containing hay.

Arthur (Ray) Hendershot, Industry police officer, estimated that 25 acres were burned over at the Rosa farm. Fire did not get to another barn containing about 200 bales of hay.

Midland Heights volunteer firemen assisted Industry volunteer firemen at the scene. Midland police reported a woman called at 3:35 p. m. asking help to fight the fire. Midland sent two trucks but one was sent back.

Midland firemen were called at 2:14 p. m. and fought a grass fire over the tracks at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and another at 2:48 p. m. at Midland Heights, back of Unit 51, police reported.

Kennedy Pits U.S. Record Against GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy isn't happy with the state of the economy. But he is willing to match statistics with the Republicans on this issue in the congressional campaign.

Kennedy contended at Wednesday's news conference his administration's record on production, incomes, business profits — and even stock prices—is better than levels attained under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And he discounted a national poll which indicated 72 per cent of those questioned opposed a tax cut that would put the government further in debt. Republicans felt this poll sustained their position.

Kennedy said the results might have been different if those polled had been asked if they favored a tax cut as a means of combatting a recession which would further increase the debt. He reminded that in 1958, under Eisenhower, there was no tax reduction when the deficit hit a peacetime record.

He called encouraging the report that unemployment fell by 450,000 in July to its lowest rate in two years.

The President thus summed up the Democratic position on what Republicans have begun to point to as possibly the outstanding issue in their efforts to win control of the House and increase their Senate holdings.

In response to a question, Kennedy specifically took on Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and spokesman for party conservatives. Gold water has predicted any further slide in the economy will damage the Democrats.

Kennedy said he isn't satisfied with present conditions because "there is still a gap between what we are doing and what we could do, based on our manpower and on our plant capacity."

He said his administration is trying to do something about lifting the level of the economy while Republicans like Goldwater oppose the proposals he has made.

He cited as examples a Senate-passed bill giving him standby authority to initiate public works projects if a recession threatens and a youth employment measure on which neither house has acted.

Kennedy said that since he took office the gross national product was up 10 per cent and incomes an equal amount. He said profits had climbed from $40 billion to $50 billion a year and stock prices —despite the market's slump—stand five points higher than when he was inaugurated.

Scenes At Hancock's 4-H Camp

CHIEFS IN POW-WOW. Serving as tribal chiefs at Hancock County 4-H Camp this week are, from left, Jackie Ankrom of the Delaware tribe, Theodore Kokochak of Cherokee, Tom Brown of Mingo and Rhonda Hill of Seneca. Over 90 youths 12 to 21 from Chester, Newell, New Cumberland, Weirton and Pughtown are attending the camp. Mary Lancaster is chairman.

City Contract Let To Standard For Gasoline And Oil

Mayor Bert H. Goodbalet and Safety - Service Director Robert Owen awarded a contract Wednesday afternoon to the Standard Oil Co.'s Youngstown office for a year's supply of gasoline, oil and other petroleum products for use of the street, incinerator, fire and police departments.

Standard submitted the only bid Tuesday to the Board of Control, comprised of the two officials. A local concern had promised to file an offer, but one of its officials said it failed to act because he forgot the deadline.

Standard's bid covers regular and high test gasoline and diesel fuel at posted dealer prices at the time of delivery. It also covers various grades of motor oil at prices ranging from 60 cents to 83 cents a gallon and hydraulic oil at 43, 64 and 83 cents a gallon, depending upon type.

Owen said the board has not taken action yet on a series of bids opened July 13 for purchase of a new mechanical street sweeper. One of the models offered to the city was demonstrated to officials Wednesday.

Mutual Aid Approved By Franklin Firemen

SUMMITVILLE — Franklin Township volunteer fire department trustees Wednesday night voted to enter in a planned mutual aid agreement with other area fire units, sponsored by the Columbiana County Firemen's Association.

Ralph Cox, president, reported on a recent meeting of the county group at which the proposed agreement was aired. Bills totaling $50 were paid.

The next monthly meeting will be announced because Wade Clark, clerk, is scheduled to enter Alliance City Hospital for eye surgery shortly and the regular meeting will not be held.

Low Bid Is $603,770 On Palestine Project

EAST PALESTINE — The General Electric Co. offices at Youngstown submitted the apparent low bid of $603,770 for a new turbo-generator for the municipal power plant Wednesday.

Four firms submitted offers to the Board of Control for the generator, final phase of a $1.2-million improvement project at the city facility.

Other bidders were Allis-Chalmers, $618,500; Worthing Co., $618,856, and Westinghouse Corp., $659,500. The bids are being studied by the board.

The phonograph was patented by Thomas A. Edison in 1878, and his first record made on the instrument was the nursery rhyme, "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

British End Thor Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. missiles will take over Communist targets now assigned to 60 British-manned Thor rockets after they are taken off their pads.

American authorities disclosed this today following a British announcement that the above-ground, vulnerable Thor missile bases in Britain will be closed down during the coming year.

U.S. informants said the basis of the British action was financial. They suggested the money Britain saves in this way may be used to strengthen her conventional forces—including those assigned to NATO—and said this meets with U.S. approval.

By that time, the United States will have nearly doubled its fleet of Polaris-missile-firing submarines from the present nine to 17. The Navy considers them virtually invulnerable to attack.

President Kennedy told his news conference late Wednesday the British gave the United States advance notice of their intention to end the Thor agreement. He said it should have no adverse effect on the defense of Europe.

Under this pact, the United States supplied about $190 million worth of missiles and other equipment while the British chipped in with about $33.6 million for launch sites and related expenses.

Crew Relocates Part Of Broken Water Line

A water department crew is expected to finish work today on installation of two 10-foot sections of 10-inch pipe at the site of a Bradshaw Ave. water main break on which work has been proceeding since July 21, Supt. Donald T. Duke said today.

The two new sections will place the line above a six-foot brick culvert. When the main broke, it was located beneath the culvert, complicating the repair, Duke explained.

When today's job is finished, the department will mark time until the arrival of additional sections of 10-inch pipe that will be used to relocate about 150 feet of the main so that it passes over the culvert. A faulty valve was repaired last week at Ravine St. and Bradshaw, allowing the crew to turn off water which had been flooding the excavation around the break.

Amish Buggy, Car Hit; Five Go To Hospital

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Five persons were hospitalized and electric power was interrupted in two communities after a car sideswiped an Amish buggy late Wednesday.

Reported in fair condition at Dunlap Memorial hospital in Orrville were Simon Byler, 17, of Apple Creek and his brothers, John, 16, and Edward, 15; Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 65, and Mrs. Suzzie Yoder, 38, both of Beach City.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said a car driven by Byler sideswiped a buggy driven by Mrs. Miller's husband, David, 65. The car then spun out of control, sideswiped several trees and snapped a main utility pole in half, disrupting electric service to Mount Eaton and Wilmot for several hours.

DiSalle Raps Critics Of His Welfare Plan

PAULDING, Ohio (AP) -- Gov. Michael V. DiSalle today challenged critics of administration spending for the aged, for retarded children, for the mentally ill, sick and needy.

"How can you tell a person 80 years old and over to go out and get a job if he wants to eat?", the Democrat incumbent asked a breakfast meeting here on a re-election campaign swing through five counties.

DiSalle said the average age of old age pensioners is 80. Ohio has 70 pensioners over age 100, he added.

"How far can the average individual go with $64 a month?" the governor asked. Remember this must pay for food, shelter, clothing, utilities—everything. This is a statewide average."

DiSalle scheduled appearances during the day in Van Wert, Mercer, Auglaize and Shelby counties.

After a dinner meeting in Sidney, he planned to fly directly to Washington for a Friday conference with President Kennedy and other officials to urge additional mileage for Cincinnati's Circle Freeway, an interstate highway project.

City Firm's Owner Buys Stark Plant

Daniel G. Richman, who operates the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. in East End and other plants, has purchased the Griscom - Russell Division of the Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp. at Massillon.

The plant was sold in June but the fact that the 36-year-old Cleveland industrialist was the buyer was just announced.

Officials of Griscom - Russell said then Richman would operate a good portion of the plant and employ 175 to 200 persons at the start. Plans for production are incomplete, however.

Besides the East Liverpool facility, Richman operates the International Process Equipment Co. in Dayton and the $7 million Ludlow Valve Manufacturing Co. of Troy and Cohoes, N. Y.

Autoist Jailed After Mishap

A 25-year-old Glenmoor driver, whose car rammed a natural gas meter along the Y. & O. Rd. early today after veering off a curve, was being held at Lisbon jail awaiting a hearing for drunken driving, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said.

Lawrence M. Barborak suffered abrasions of the right hand and neck when his 1958 auto left the highway about a mile south of Rock Camp at 1:30 a. m. and rolled over, hitting the meter of the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

The car was heavily damaged, according to officers.

Two passengers in a car driven by an East Palestine area youth were injured slightly when his car swerved off Route 170 north of Unity Wednesday and hit a tree and sign.

Albert C. Smith, 18, of East Palestine R. D. 1 was charged with reckless operation as a result of the crash which heavily damaged his 1949 auto.

Harold Powell Jr., 20, of Boardman St., East Palestine, received a laceration of the back of the head and a sprained back, and James Guy, 18, of 93 E. Martin St. received a back injury.

Officers said Smith headed north, went off the right side of the road, applied his brakes but lost control and the auto skidded sideways across the road to hit the tree and sign.

British Action Set Today In Soblen Case

BULLETIN

LONDON (AP) — The British government today denied political asylum to Dr. Robert Soblen, the fugitive spy, and ordered him sent back to the United States.

LONDON (AP) — An informed source said the British government will announce today the expulsion of Dr. Robert Soblen, the fugitive spy seeking to escape a life prison sentence in the United States.

The source said Home Secretary Henry Brooke will announce the rejection of Soblen's petition for political asylum.

Brooke also may specify that Soblen must continue his journey to New York, interrupted July 1 when the 61-year-old psychiatrist slashed a wrist and his abdomen on board a plane returning him from Israel to New York.

The informant said he was certain Britain would not grant Soblen asylum.

He said it was less certain, however, that the British government would specify Soblen's destination. Some lawyers have expressed doubt that the government could send Soblen to the United States since the U.S.-British extradition treaty does not cover espionage.

Soblen, convicted in a U.S. court of passing wartime secrets to the Soviet Union, has been offered asylum in Communist Czechoslovakia. Friends in Israel and Britain have urged that he be allowed to go there, saying he is a leukemia victim with only a short time to live.

Halted Auto Hit By Truck

SALINEVILLE — A Wellsville man was injured and a Salineville girl shaken when a pickup truck rammed the rear of a halted auto on Route 39 in the East End about 6 p. m. Wednesday, Police Chief Roy Lewis reported.

The truck, operated by Lee Delbert Rowe, 18, of R. D., hit the rear of the auto driven by Gary Hogue, 18, of R. D., who had stopped to make a turn onto High St.

Charles Elwood Moore, 25, of Wellsville, passenger in the truck, was treated by a physician for bruises of the face, head and body.

Norma Fields, 18, of Salineville, passenger in Hogue's car, was examined by a physician and released.

Rowe is slated for a hearing tonight before Mayor Stanley Fitch on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Well 'Smells Up' Palestine Water

EAST PALESTINE — "Big Stinker," an older well north of the city pressed into service after a recent rash of water main breaks, will apparently continue to provide sulphur-flavored water in city mains for a while yet, Mayor Robert Harding announced Wednesday.

At a meeting of Council, Mayor Harding commented on recent complaints about the odor of the water, and said the older well, known officially as the North Well but called "Big Stinker" by some, was needed to provide additional pressure when the water pressure fell during a number of recent breaks which caused leakage.

He said the well will have to be used for a while yet.

Meanwhile, plans are being furthered for eventual drilling of two new wells — one east of the city and another north — to provide a direct flow into the city lines as recommended by the State Health Department.

Track Crews Blamed In Fatal Train Wreck

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An official of the Pennsylvania Railroad blames the derailment of a baseball special which killed 19 persons on the failure of maintenance crews to install enough rail anchors while rehabilitating tracks near Steelton, Pa.

James P. Newell, vice president of operations, said Wednesday the lack of anchors permitted the rails to get out of alignment. A rail anchor is a steel device which clamps on the base of the rail.

Newell said "appropriate disciplinary action" will be taken.

More than 100 were injured when the last three of the nine cars jumped the tracks and tumbled into the Susquehanna River in Steelton late Saturday. The train was carrying baseball fans to a game in Philadelphia between the Phillies and Pittsburgh.

Newark Chief Orders Crackdown On Vice

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — The Newark police department has been ordered by Chief L.L. Hall to carry out a "citywide crackdown on vice," after declaring that gambling, bootlegging and prostitution "have gotten way out of hand."

the number of families and whether there is a meter, along with other information.

A flat rate would be based on the number of water outlets or number of persons in a home or business. A typical rate schedule approved by the West Virginia Public Service Commission includes a charge of $4.20 for the initial faucet, 90 cents for a bathtub, 60 cents for a commode, 60 cents for a wash basin, 90 cents for a hose connection, $2.30 for a washer and $1.15 for a laundry tub.

Water works employes will conduct the house-to-house survey when the sheets are printed.

The rate system came before city officials as a result of the proposed sewage plant, the construction of which is to be based partly upon revenue from sewer rates related to water rates.

City Clerk Roy Cashdollar read a letter from the Magnus Co. of Cincinnati, a bonding firm, which had been connected with planning for the sewage plant until last month when Council voided the relationship.

The firm listed expenses in connection with the plans, including 17 trips to Chester since 1952 at a cost of $100 each along with partial surveys by two engineers and other study work.

The firm said as a result of the move by Council to void the agreement, court action is planned.

Council took the action to withdraw from the working relationship with Magnus and with A. R. Todd Associates of Wheeling, engineers, at a meeting July 16. The McGill & Smith Co. of Bethel has been retained in an advisory capacity as engineers in the project for which a $105,000 federal grant has been allocated.

In other action Council was advised by Councilman Donald Chaney he favors separate new levies to finance City Park and operation of the fire department.

After a discussion, Chaney said he would arrange a meeting with Harold Dickey, City Park Commission chairman, and Fire Chief William Glover to determine their needs.

Councilman Carl Graham, street committee chairman, reported the street committee had completed sweeping of Carolina Ave. from 1st to 8th St. Wednesday morning, and was to clean 4th, 5th and 6th Sts. today.

Councilman Donald Hissam agreed to investigate a request by John Duffy of Leander Dr. for improvement of that street.

Hutton questioned a bill of $368 due for a new 1st St. fire hydrant to replace one damaged when struck by a car earlier this year. City Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner said she is holding a note due the city for the hydrant and an assignment on wages from the person responsible for the damage.

Halted Auto Hit By Truck

SALINEVILLE — A Wellsville man was injured and a Salineville girl shaken when a pickup truck rammed the rear of a halted auto on Route 39 in the East End about 6 p. m. Wednesday, Police Chief Roy Lewis reported.

The truck, operated by Lee Delbert Rowe, 18, of R. D., hit the rear of the auto driven by Gary Hogue, 18, of R. D., who had stopped to make a turn onto High St.

Charles Elwood Moore, 25, of Wellsville, passenger in the truck, was treated by a physician for bruises of the face, head and body.

Norma Fields, 18, of Salineville, passenger in Hogue's car, was examined by a physician and released.

Rowe is slated for a hearing tonight before Mayor Stanley Fitch on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Well 'Smells Up' Palestine Water

EAST PALESTINE — "Big Stinker," an older well north of the city pressed into service after a recent rash of water main breaks, will apparently continue to provide sulphur-flavored water in city mains for a while yet, Mayor Robert Harding announced Wednesday.

At a meeting of Council, Mayor Harding commented on recent complaints about the odor of the water, and said the older well, known officially as the North Well but called "Big Stinker" by some, was needed to provide additional pressure when the water pressure fell during a number of recent breaks which caused leakage.

He said the well will have to be used for a while yet.

Meanwhile, plans are being furthered for eventual drilling of two new wells — one east of the city and another north — to provide a direct flow into the city lines as recommended by the State Health Department.

Track Crews Blamed In Fatal Train Wreck

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An official of the Pennsylvania Railroad blames the derailment of a baseball special which killed 19 persons on the failure of maintenance crews to install enough rail anchors while rehabilitating tracks near Steelton, Pa.

James P. Newell, vice president of operations, said Wednesday the lack of anchors permitted the rails to get out of alignment. A rail anchor is a steel device which clamps on the base of the rail.

Newell said "appropriate disciplinary action" will be taken.

More than 100 were injured when the last three of the nine cars jumped the tracks and tumbled into the Susquehanna River in Steelton late Saturday. The train was carrying baseball fans to a game in Philadelphia between the Phillies and Pittsburgh.

Newark Chief Orders Crackdown On Vice

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — The Newark police department has been ordered by Chief L.L. Hall to carry out a "citywide crackdown on vice," after declaring that gambling, bootlegging and prostitution "have gotten way out of hand."

The chief's action followed arrest of one woman earlier in the week on a charge of prostitution. He said particular attention was being directed to activities in the eastern section of the city.

the number of families and whether there is a meter, along with other information.

A flat rate would be based on the number of water outlets or number of persons in a home or business. A typical rate schedule approved by the West Virginia Public Service Commission includes a charge of $4.20 for the initial faucet, 90 cents for a bathtub, 60 cents for a commode, 60 cents for a wash basin, 90 cents for a hose connection, $2.30 for a washer and $1.15 for a laundry tub.

Water works employes will conduct the house-to-house survey when the sheets are printed.

The rate system came before city officials as a result of the proposed sewage plant, the construction of which is to be based partly upon revenue from sewer rates related to water rates.

City Clerk Roy Cashdollar read a letter from the Magnus Co. of Cincinnati, a bonding firm, which had been connected with planning for the sewage plant until last month when Council voided the relationship.

The firm listed expenses in connection with the plans, including 17 trips to Chester since 1952 at a cost of $100 each along with partial surveys by two engineers and other study work.

The firm said as a result of the move by Council to void the agreement, court action is planned.

Council took the action to withdraw from the working relationship with Magnus and with A. R. Todd Associates of Wheeling, engineers, at a meeting July 16. The McGill & Smith Co. of Bethel has been retained in an advisory capacity as engineers in the project for which a $105,000 federal grant has been allocated.

In other action Council was advised by Councilman Donald Chaney he favors separate new levies to finance City Park and operation of the fire department.

After a discussion, Chaney said he would arrange a meeting with Harold Dickey, City Park Commission chairman, and Fire Chief William Glover to determine their needs.

Councilman Carl Graham, street committee chairman, reported the street committee had completed sweeping of Carolina Ave. from 1st to 8th St. Wednesday morning, and was to clean 4th, 5th and 6th Sts. today.

Councilman Donald Hissam agreed to investigate a request by John Duffy of Leander Dr. for improvement of that street.

Hutton questioned a bill of $368 due for a new 1st St. fire hydrant to replace one damaged when struck by a car earlier this year. City Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner said she is holding a note due the city for the hydrant and an assignment on wages from the person responsible for the damage.

Council

councilmen were contacted because the other two — Hissam and Kology — were in office before and were acquainted with the track's procedures. "There was no deal made," he added.

Graham said 17 men had been selected for traffic duty by the track, and this was later reduced to 15 men.

Track Consulted Mayors

Kology said the track contacted the mayors in previous years regarding traffic control. Hissam said "The place to discuss this is right at the Council table—not behind closed doors."

Chief Lennens said he has been receiving $12 daily for the track traffic duty — $9 by check and $3 in cash. Lennens said he wouldn't want the sheriff's deputy ordered off the Route 30 intersection.

Mayor Abrams said he "would be glad to go down to the track with any of the councilmen." Chaney said he believes the city should take care of its own traffic and if the track causes congestion, the track should contact the city.

Chief Lennens declared he is willing to do anything to straighten things out, commenting "There has been good co-operation between the county and city police."

Requests Withdrawal

Council passed the resolution to ask the sheriff to withdraw the deputy and to "thank the county for assistance in traffic control," and also approved a motion to relieve Chief Lennens from traffic duties "until the situation can be remedied."

Chaney questioned reports of children playing pinball machines, saying he had heard some youngsters have used lunch money in the machines.

The state and city license such machines, but it is unlawful for minors to play them, Mrs. Turner reported. The penalty ranges from $50 to $250 or 30 days in jail. Chaney said he would like the ordinance enforced.

Officers At Dances

Hutton questioned the use of special officers at weekly youth dances held at the City Hall. The officers are hired by the dance sponsors who also pay for their bonds.

Discussion was held on the officers carrying guns, and Hutton said he didn't understand why they had to have weapons in the City Hall. Mayor Abrams said it was the practice before he came to office.

Graham said it has been reported the special officers take their duties onto the streets, and said their duties should be confined to the City Hall and they should not carry guns. Mrs. Turner said it is up to Council to define the officers' duties.

Council then approved a motion to restrict the two special officers to duty in the city building and to refrain from carrying guns.

Newell Post Lets Filter Contract

A proposed air filtration system was approved and a bid accepted from a local contractor at a meeting of Newell American Legion Post 114 Wednesday evening, in the post home.

The unit will be installed immediately, Dewaine Staley, commander, said.

New membership cards are now available and members were urged to renew their membership as soon as possible.

The post's annual picnic will be held Aug. 18.

Thomas P. Hansen of Pittsburgh, cited for operating an unsafe vehicle after an accident sometime ago, pleaded guilty yesterday and was fined $50 and costs.

License Tag Checked In Pinball Theft Case

LISBON — Authorities are checking out an auto license number in the investigation of theft of $150 in dimes from a pinball machine Tuesday at 8:45 a. m. at the White Spot Restaurant, just east of Minerva on Route 30.

The scholarship consists of $500 a year for four years of medical schools. Hiser will enter the Ohio State University College of Medicine in September. He had completed his pre - medical work at Ohio State in March.

Drugs

tougher" in regulating distribution of drugs to doctors for experimental use and suggested this could be done without further legislation.

Stronger legislation than a bill approved by the Senate Judiciary committee, however, is essential for the government to yank new drugs off the market "where there is an immediate hazard to public health," Kennedy said.

On other subjects, the President had this to say:

Peru—Steps taken by the military junta that took over the Peruvian government have been encouraging but the United States hopes for additional evidence of a return to free, constitutional government. He implied additional assurances would bring about U.S. recognition of the new regime.

Economy—He is "not satisfied" with the performance of the U.S. economy during his administration—growth is insufficient—but he is ready to compare his record with that of the Eisenhower administration.

Tests—The United States will set off no more atmospheric tests in Nevada, he said, and a decision on conducting three additional tests at Johnston Island in the Pacific will be made after the launching pad there is repaired.

Communications Satellite—Kennedy said he still backs the administration bill to establish a private corporation to operate the U.S. portion of a global communications satellite system. Senate consideration of the measure had been delayed by a filibuster.

Up To Government, Ohio Director Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Health Director Ralph E. Dwork said today the federal government has assumed full responsibility for recall of thalidomide, a drug blamed for some congenital malformations.

"The department of health has no specific authority, no responsibility in this matter.

"We have been concerned, however, because of our general authority and responsibility for the health of the people.

"We, therefore, have assured ourselves that the Federal Food and Drug Administration has assumed full responsibility for the recall of the drug in this country and is now in the process of personally contacting every physician in the country known to have had thalidomide in his possession.

"Any further inquiries for information concerning thalidomide and congenital malformation should be directed to the Federal Food and Drug Administration."

Dwork's office said there would be no amplification of the statement.

councilmen were contacted because the other two — Hissam and Kology — were in office before and were acquainted with the track's procedures. "There was no deal made," he added.

Graham said 17 men had been selected for traffic duty by the track, and this was later reduced to 15 men.

Track Consulted Mayors

Kology said the track contacted the mayors in previous years regarding traffic control. Hissam said "The place to discuss this is right at the Council table—not behind closed doors."

Chief Lennens said he has been receiving $12 daily for the track traffic duty — $9 by check and $3 in cash. Lennens said he wouldn't want the sheriff's deputy ordered off the Route 30 intersection.

Mayor Abrams said he "would be glad to go down to the track with any of the councilmen," Chaney said he believes the city should take care of its own traffic and if the track causes congestion, the track should contact the city.

Chief Lennens declared he is willing to do anything to straighten things out, commenting "There has been good co-operation between the county and city police."

Requests Withdrawal

Council passed the resolution to ask the sheriff to withdraw the deputy and to "thank the county for assistance in traffic control," and also approved a motion to relieve Chief Lennens from traffic duties "until the situation can be remedied."

Chaney questioned reports of children playing pinball machines, saying he had heard some youngsters have used lunch money in the machines.

The state and city license such machines, but it is unlawful for minors to play them, Mrs. Turner reported. The penalty ranges from $50 to $250 or 30 days in jail. Chaney said he would like the ordinance enforced.

Officers At Dances

Hutton questioned the use of special officers at weekly youth dances held at the City Hall. The officers are hired by the dance sponsors who also pay for their bonds.

Discussion was held on the officers carrying guns, and Hutton said he didn't understand why they had to have weapons in the City Hall. Mayor Abrams said it was the practice before he came to office.

Graham said it has been reported the special officers take their duties onto the streets, and said their duties should be confined to the City Hall and they should not carry guns. Mrs. Turner said it is up to Council to define the officers' duties.

Council then approved a motion to restrict the two special officers to duty in the city building and to refrain from carrying guns.

Newell Post Lets Filter Contract

A proposed air filtration system was approved and a bid accepted from a local contractor at a meeting of Newell American Legion Post 114 Wednesday evening, in the post home.

The unit will be installed immediately, Dewaine Staley, commander, said.

New membership cards are now available and members were urged to renew their membership as soon as possible.

License Tag Checked In Pinball Theft Case

LISBON — Authorities are checking out an auto license number in the investigation of theft of $150 in dimes from a pinball machine Tuesday at 8:45 a. m. at the White Spot Restaurant, just east of Minerva on Route 30.

Wins Scholarship

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Wesley W. Hiser, 21, of Route 1, Ludlow Falls, Miami County, today was named the 1962 recipient of the Ohio State Medical Association's rural medical scholarship. The scholarship consists of $500 a year for four years of medical schools. Hiser will enter the Ohio State University College of Medicine in September. He had completed his pre-medical work at Ohio State in March.

Drugs

tougher" in regulating distribution of drugs to doctors for experimental use and suggested this could be done without further legislation.

Stronger legislation than a bill approved by the Senate Judiciary committee, however, is essential for the government to yank new drugs off the market "where there is an immediate hazard to public health," Kennedy said.

On other subjects, the President had this to say:

Peru—Steps taken by the military junta that took over the Peruvian government have been encouraging but the United States hopes for additional evidence of a return to free, constitutional government. He implied additional assurances would bring about U.S. recognition of the new regime.

Economy—He is "not satisfied" with the performance of the U.S. economy during his administration—growth is insufficient—but he is ready to compare his record with that of the Eisenhower administration.

Tests—The United States will set off no more atmospheric tests in Nevada, he said, and a decision on conducting three additional tests at Johnston Island in the Pacific will be made after the launching pad there is repaired.

Communications Satellite—Kennedy said he still backs the administration bill to establish a private corporation to operate the U.S. portion of a global communications satellite system. Senate consideration of the measure had been delayed by a filibuster.

Up To Government, Ohio Director Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Health Director Ralph E. Dwork said today the federal government has assumed full responsibility for recall of thalidomide, a drug blamed for some congenital malformations.

"The department of health has no specific authority, no responsibility in this matter.

"We have been concerned, however, because of our general authority and responsibility for the health of the people.

"We, therefore, have assured ourselves that the Federal Food and Drug Administration has assumed full responsibility for the recall of the drug in this country and is now in the process of personally contacting every physician in the country known to have had thalidomide in his possession.

"Any further inquiries for information concerning thalidomide and congenital malformation should be directed to the Federal Food and Drug Administration."

Dwork's office said there would be no amplification of the statement.

Dear Heloise: I have been a chef in restaurants for more years than I care to remember. Here is the way we cook link sausages to keep them from spattering all over the stove. It is an old restaurant trick known to most any chef or cook.

Cut the link sausages apart and put them in a cooking pot big enough so that they can be covered with cold water. Place this over the burner on medium heat and just barely bring to a boil.

Take pot from the fire, place in the kitchen sink and run cold water over the sausages until they are completely cold. Then place in a colander and let them drain until they are completely dry.

Put sausages in your refrigerator until ready for use. When ready to cook, place as many link sausages as you want to use in a cold frying pan. Turn on the heat and cook until they are brown on one side. Turn over on the other side and brown again. When brown and hot clear through (avoid overcooking as this makes them tough) serve with a smile!

Wives will have no splatter or grease. I buy two pounds at a time for home use and prepare them. I then put six links of sausage on a piece of foil and wrap tightly and put in my deep freeze. This way, all I have to do when I am ready for sausage in our home for breakfast, is to take out one package at a time.

Milk Stains Removed

DEAR HELOISE: Milk and other protein stains will cook on fabric if it is washed in hot water, just as an egg cooks on an egg beater if it is put directly into the hot dishwater! Protein must be removed with cold water first.

Over a period of time, the sun will bleach out stains from fabrics.

Baby clothes that go into a diaper pail filled with cold water and a little vinegar before the milk dries on the clothes will stay much whiter.

Use For Baskets

DEAR HELOISE: Here is an idea for using plastic berry baskets.

When our church had its bazaar, I baked cookies. . . plain and fancy. I lined each berry basket with wax paper and filled the baskets with home-made cookies, laying fancy ones on top. I sprinkled the fancy ones with almonds and sugared walnuts.

I then took some clear plastic, the type that comes in a roll, and wrapped the basket. I tied it with colored ribbon. These made very attractive cookie baskets and we sold them for 50 cents each at our bazaar. They were sold immediately.

Briley Chides Sen. Lausche

The former Toledo industrialist said Lausche was one of four senators sponsoring an amendment to exempt the Amish from Social Security taxes.

The amendment was adopted but later eliminated in a conference committee.

"Ohio papers," Briley recounted, "told how Ohio's senior senator had spoken with deep emotion of the hardships to the Amish who, as a matter of conscience, had to resist Social Security taxes. . . .

"What was the outcome of it all? The conference committee took it out as probably unconstitutional. So, nothing happened, except a warm shower of publicity for Ohio's senior senator."

Briley cited the incident as an example of what he termed efforts by Washington bureaus of Ohio newspapers to "give their stories the little twists that make them big stories back home."

2 Scandinavian Nations Offer Abortion Solution

By The Associated Press

Two Scandinavian nations in which abortions are legal—Sweden and Norway—might help solve the pregnancy problems of foreign women such as Mrs. Sherri Finkbine.

Medical spokesmen in Stockholm and Oslo cautioned today there is no blanket ruling. But they said decisions in the cases of foreign women fearful that prenatal use of the drug thalidomide has deformed their babies would be up to examining physicians.

Japan would bar abortions, though its 14-year-old eugenics law permits abortion for Japanese citizens and foreign residents.

A Welfare Ministry spokesman in Tokyo, Fumihiko Manakata, said an abortion-seeking tourist would be subject to a prison sentence of up to seven years.

Denmark also apparently would be out of bounds.

Dr. Axel Peterson of the Maternal Aid Institution in Copenhagen said a case such as that of Mrs. Finkbine, whose suit for legal approval of an operation was denied by an Arizona court, would be a matter for the institution's special boards of medical, psychiatric and legal experts. And these boards are prevented by law from handling requests of foreigners.

Sweden has allowed legal abortions for seven Swedish women who took thalidomide in the early stages of their pregnancy. X-ray checks had shown two of the babies were deformed, a National Health Board spokesman said, and "in the other five cases the abortions were granted for social, family or health reasons."

As to foreign women, Dr. Karl-Inge Oester of the medical board explained that legal abortion in Sweden may be authorized in cases when a severe illness in the mother could be transferred to the child.

Such cases are decided on what is called eugenic indication, a condition that Stockholm medical experts said may be valid in Mrs. Finkbine's case.

In Oslo, the acting chief of Norway's health directorate, Jon Bjoernson, said Norwegian law has no provision for authorizing an abortion in advance.

As Bjoernson outlined it: A legal abortion can be performed in Norway only on purely medical indications. The physician in charge of the case must decide whether an operation is necessary.

Little Relief In Sight For Drought Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau said today little relief is in sight for the drought-stricken Northeast during the next 30 days.

"Subnormal rains are anticipated in the Gulf and Pacific Coast states and also in those northeastern states currently affected by drought," the bureau said in its 30-day outlook.

Hancock Sheriff Lists 18 Mishaps

Eighteen prisoners were in custody and 43 were released during the month. Twenty - two were confined by deputies, six by Weirton police, four by New Cumberland, two by constables and one by Chester police.

Deputies made one trip to Blackwater Falls Boys' School at Davis and two trips to Weston State Hospital.

Wellsville Lists More Streets For Sweeping

Wellsville Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare today listed sections of three more streets scheduled for sweeping between 4 this afternoon and midnight.

The sweeper will clean Lincoln Ave. between 15th St. and Aten Ave.; Maple St. from 15th to 18th Sts. and Clark Ave. from 15th St. to the city limits, the director said.

The streets will be posted to remind motorists of the parking ban, Baldasare said. He asked householders to sweep their sidewalks before the sweeper passes. The director thanked motorists and householders for their cooperation in the past. He said the citywide sweeping program should be completed by Saturday night.

3-Story 'Inner Tube' Seen As Space Station

CLEVELAND (AP) — A three-story - high "inner tube" which industrial researchers say could be inflated in outer space to form a space station for three men was put on display today at the Lewis Research Center.

Goodyear Aircraft Corp. said the donut - shaped inflatable station is one of various structural types under study by the company. A smaller version of the inflatable space station, 24-feet in diameter, is being tested by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Langley Field, Va. Lewis Research Center, a NASA facility, will display the proposed space station for "youth day" tours this weekend.

The station here is 30 feet in diameter, with a metal canister at the hub to form an entrance and a dock where another vehicle could hook up at rendezvous in space. Once the station has been put in orbit and inflated, the team would be ferried to it by space capsule.

Court Ruling Returns Fired Superintendent

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — The school board of nearby Goshen had no comment on the matter, but the supporters of Robert E. Gower cheered a court decision ordering him reinstated as Goshen school superintendent.

Hundreds of residents joined a parade of about 75 placard-carrying autos streaming through the school district Wednesday night.

They returned to the school grounds for a rally around a huge bonfire. Gower, along with his wife and four children, was carried along in the parade in an open convertible.

Basis for the jubilation was the ruling of Judge Louis Schneider that the school board was too demanding in requiring Gower to adhere perfectly to all the board rules.

The board voted 3-2 last spring to end Gower's three-year contract as superintendent, contending he willfully disregarded board rules.

MOLLRE DARK

Collared

DEAR HELOISE: We have a dog and have discovered something which has proved invaluable to us. We cut off the leather handstrap on his leash and substituted his outgrown leather collar (the buckle kind).

When walking our dog, if we must go in a grocery store or such, we simply buckle the leash around anything handy!

Milk Stains Removed

DEAR HELOISE: Milk and other protein stains will cook on fabric if it is washed in hot water, just as an egg cooks on an egg beater if it is put directly into the hot dishwater! Protein must be removed with cold water first.

Over a period of time, the sun will bleach out stains from fabrics.

Baby clothes that go into a diaper pail filled with cold water and a little vinegar before the milk dries on the clothes will stay much whiter.

Use For Baskets

DEAR HELOISE: Here is an idea for using plastic berry baskets.

When our church had its bazaar, I baked cookies. . . plain and fancy. I lined each berry basket with wax paper and filled the baskets with home-made cookies, laying fancy ones on top. I sprinkled the fancy ones with almonds and sugared walnuts.

I then took some clear plastic, the type that comes in a roll, and wrapped the basket. I tied it with colored ribbon. These made very attractive cookie baskets and we sold them for 50 cents each at our bazaar. They were sold immediately.

Briley Chides Sen. Lausche

The former Toledo industrialist said Lausche was one of four senators sponsoring an amendment to exempt the Amish from Social Security taxes.

The amendment was adopted but later eliminated in a conference committee.

"Ohio papers," Briley recounted, "told how Ohio's senior senator had spoken with deep emotion of the hardships to the Amish who, as a matter of conscience, had to resist Social Security taxes. . . .

"What was the outcome of it all? The conference committee took it out as probably unconstitutional. So, nothing happened, except a warm shower of publicity for Ohio's senior senator."

Briley cited the incident as an example of what he termed efforts by Washington bureaus of Ohio newspapers to "give their stories the little twists that make them big stories back home."

2 Scandinavian Nations Offer Abortion Solution

By The Associated Press

Two Scandinavian nations in which abortions are legal—Sweden and Norway—might help solve the pregnancy problems of foreign women such as Mrs. Sherri Finkbine.

Medical spokesmen in Stockholm and Oslo cautioned today there is no blanket ruling. But they said decisions in the cases of foreign women fearful that prenatal use of the drug thalidomide has deformed their babies would be up to examining physicians.

Japan would bar abortions, though its 14-year-old eugenics law permits abortion for Japanese citizens and foreign residents.

A Welfare Ministry spokesman in Tokyo, Fumihiko Manakata, said an abortion-seeking tourist would be subject to a prison sentence of up to seven years.

Denmark also apparently would be out of bounds.

Dr. Axel Peterson of the Maternal Aid Institution in Copenhagen said a case such as that of Mrs. Finkbine, whose suit for legal approval of an operation was denied by an Arizona court, would be a matter for the institution's special boards of medical, psychiatric and legal experts. And these boards are prevented by law from handling requests of foreigners.

Sweden has allowed legal abortions for seven Swedish women who took thalidomide in the early stages of their pregnancy. X-ray checks had shown two of the babies were deformed, a National Health Board spokesman said, and "in the other five cases the abortions were granted for social, family or health reasons."

As to foreign women, Dr. Karl-Inge Oester of the medical board explained that legal abortion in Sweden may be authorized in cases when a severe illness in the mother could be transferred to the child.

Such cases are decided on what is called eugenic indication, a condition that Stockholm medical experts said may be valid in Mrs. Finkbine's case.

In Oslo, the acting chief of Norway's health directorate, Jon Bjoernson, said Norwegian law has no provision for authorizing an abortion in advance.

As Bjoernson outlined it: A legal abortion can be performed in Norway only on purely medical indications. The physician in charge of the case must decide whether an operation is necessary.

CLEVELAND (AP) — A three-story - high "inner tube" which industrial researchers say could be inflated in outer space to form a space station for three men was put on display today at the Lewis Research Center.

Goodyear Aircraft Corp. said the donut - shaped inflatable station is one of various structural types under study by the company. A smaller version of the inflatable space station, 24-feet in diameter, is being tested by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Langley Field, Va. Lewis Research Center, a NASA facility, will display the proposed space station for "youth day" tours this weekend.

The station here is 30 feet in diameter, with a metal canister at the hub to form an entrance and a dock where another vehicle could hook up at rendezvous in space. Once the station has been put in orbit and inflated, the team would be ferried to it by space capsule.

Court Ruling Returns Fired Superintendent

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — The school board of nearby Goshen had no comment on the matter, but the supporters of Robert E. Gower cheered a court decision ordering him reinstated as Goshen school superintendent.

Hundreds of residents joined a parade of about 75 placard-carrying autos streaming through the school district Wednesday night.

They returned to the school grounds for a rally around a huge bonfire. Gower, along with his wife and four children, was carried along in the parade in an open convertible.

Basis for the jubilation was the ruling of Judge Louis Schneider that the school board was too demanding in requiring Gower to adhere perfectly to all the board rules.

The board voted 3-2 last spring to end Gower's three-year contract as superintendent, contending he willfully disregarded board rules.

Little Relief In Sight For Drought Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau said today little relief is in sight for the drought-stricken Northeast during the next 30 days.

"Subnormal rains are anticipated in the Gulf and Pacific Coast states and also in those northeastern states currently affected by drought," the bureau said in its 30-day outlook.

It added that continued below normal temperatures are expected over the northern half of the nation east of the Continental Divide but above normal in the Gulf states, the Southeast and the Pacific Northwest.

Monbouquette's No-Hitter Is Almost Perfect Game

Yanks, LA Win Two; Twins Nip Birds

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Like most members of the pitching fraternity, Boston's Billy Monbouquette has his good days and bad. When he's good, he's very, very good, and when he's bad, he's horrid.

Wednesday night the hefty righthander was very, very good. In fact, he was almost perfect. The 25-year-old native of Medford, Mass., hurled the season's fourth no-hit, no-run game, a 1-0 triumph over Chicago in which only one White Sox reached base.

Strangely, Monbouquette had been having his troubles of late. A mainstay of the Boston staff for two seasons, he had been knocked out in his last four starts.

But he was the master of the situation Wednesday night. Only a second inning walk to Al Smith spoiled a perfect game. There were only two difficult chances, Charley Maxwell's long fly to right in the second and a blooper over second by Sherm Lollar in the fifth. Monbo retired the last 22 men in order.

Elsewhere in the American League, the first-place New York Yankees retained their six game margin over Los Angeles by taking a pair from Washington, 6-4 and 5-2 in 11 innings. Los Angeles also won two, beating Cleveland 2-1 and 8-4 in 10 innings. Detroit took two from Kansas City, 6-5 and 9-1. Minnesota out-lasted Baltimore 3-1 in 11 innings.

"Sure, it was a thrill. Sure, it was the best game I ever pitched" said Monbouquette, who once struck out 17 men in a night game at Washington. "Nellie Fox was the man I was afraid of," he said. "He never strikes out."

Fox came in to hit for Early Wynn, the White Sox' ancient pitching star seeking his 298th career victory, with one out in the ninth. Mombo got him on a tricky grounder to third, then struck out Luis Aparicio to end the game, pushing his record to 9-10 for the season. He struck out seven.

Other no-hitters this season were by Earl Wilson, Monbouquette's teammate, Bo Belinsky of the Los Angeles Angels and Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Lu Clinton drove in the only run in the game with a single in the eighth, following two-out singles by Jim Pagliaroni and Pete Runnels.

The Yankees pushed in three runs in the 11th inning of the nightcap at Washington to provide Whitey Ford with his 11th victory. Dale Long's double, a single by Elston Howard and John Blanchard's homer did the job.

The five-hit pitching of Dean Chance (8-6) and a four-run 10th inning brought the Angels their two victories over Cleveland.

The 10th inning tie-breaker in the nightcap came on a disputed balk called on Cleveland's Ruben Gomez with runners on second and third. Singles by Tom Burgess, Billy Moran and Felix Torres got the others.

Detroit, which got the benefit of 20 bases on balls in its two games with Kansas City, had to rally for three runs after two were out in the ninth to win the opener.

Reds Drive To 13th Win In Last 14

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just how far is up for Cincinnati's rambunctious Reds?

That was the big question today in the National League, where the bounce-back Reds are using Frank Robinson's big bat as a battering ram in an attempt to gain admittance to the throne room for the second consecutive year.

The Reds have reeled off 13 victories in 14 games—the latest a 5-1 conquest of the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

The triumph moved the third-place Reds to within 7½ games of league-leading Los Angeles and within 2½ of second-place San Francisco. The Dodgers were belted by Pittsburgh 9-1 while the Giants bowed to the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings.

In other AL action, the league-leading New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Washington 6-4 and 5-2 in 11 innings, the Los Angeles Angels whipped Cleveland twice 2-1 and 8-4 in 10 innings, Detroit swept Kansas City 6-5 and 9-1 and Minnesota defeated Baltimore 3-1 in 11 innings.

The Cardinals got to Jim O'Toole (11-11) for their lone run in the fourth inning on Julian Javier's triple and a single by Stan Musial, but Robinson's homer following a Jerry Lynch single put the Reds ahead to stay. Larry Jackson (9-9) was the loser.

The Pirates backed Bob Friend (12-10) with a 14-hit attack and made the most of three Dodger errors to snap out of a losing skid in which they had lost eight of nine games. Six runs in the third tagged Stan Williams (9-7) with the loss.

George Altman's two-run homer in the 10th inning settled a pitchers' duel between Bob Buhl (8-8) of the Cubs and Billy O'Dell (12-10) of the Giants. Buhl needed Don Cardwell's relief help in the bottom of the 10th.

Shaw (12-8) scattered eight hits in posting his third shutout of the year while the Braves collected only five hits, but used them more effectively to beat Hal Woodeshick (4-11). Milwaukee combined two hits and three walks for a pair of third inning runs and closed the scoring in the fifth on Joe Adcock's homer.

Tony Gonzalez paced the Phillies' 18-hit offensive with four hits—including a triple and double—and three runs batted in. The victory went to Dennis Bennett (4-6) with Al Jackson (5-13) the loser.

Georgetown clinched the championship of the South Side Hot Stove League's Junior Division with a 4-2 victory over Frankfort Wednesday. Francis Nash was the winning hurler.

Three home runs by Gogol, Franczek and Gary McNicol the winning hurler led Newell to an 11-7 victory over Lawrenceville.

Bull To Replace Davis

All-Stars Ready For Match With Packers Friday Night

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

Says Coach Otto Graham of the collegians:

"Physically the Packers won't push us around. I just hope we won't make any mental errors."

But the 1962 edition of the All-Stars, even with Ernie Davis of Syracuse sidelined, have much to recommend them.

They have John Hadl of Kansas, a talented quarterback; Ron Bull of Baylor, who is expected to step into the spot vacated by Davis; Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, a pin point passer; Jimmy Saxton of Texas, an explosive runner, and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, a powerful line smasher.

The loss of Davis was a severe blow. He is in bed with a blood disorder that may keep him from playing at all this year with the Cleveland Browns.

The game is the 29th in the series sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and will be televised and broadcast (ABC) starting at 8:45 p.m. EST.

The Packers are clear cut favorites. However Graham, in his first job of coaching, pulled a big upset when his collegians beat the Detroit Lions 35-19. Graham figures his present team has the potential.

All indications point to an open game.

Graham won't name his starting quarterback yet, but he said "if we use the spread much it has to be Hadl."

Central Nine Tops Friendly

Central Service jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning then went on to defeat Friendly Bowling 8-4 in the Colt League Wednesday.

Dave Bowersock spaced six hits and only gave up one run until Friendly Bowling came on to score three in the last of the seventh.

Blood Disorder Stops Halfback

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — All-America halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse, the 1961 Heisman Trophy winner, is suffering from a blood disorder that is expected to keep him from playing pro football this season with the Cleveland Browns.

The 22-year-old, 212-pounder who erased the great Jim Brown's yard-gaining records for the Orangemen, has been in Evanston Hospital undergoing tests since Monday. He was to have played with the College All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Friday night.

Art Modell, Cleveland president, flew to Chicago Wednesday, and after conferring with doctors treating Davis, said in a statement:

"At this moment it appears almost certain that Ernie will not be able to play for the Browns this season. The doctors at Evanston Hospital are still completing tests but have diagnosed his condition as a blood disorder requiring extended treatment and rest. The long range future depends on his response to those treatments."

The disorder, Modell said, was not contagious or infectious and presented no danger to the All-Stars with whom Davis has been in training for three weeks.

Davis was the No. 1 choice of the Washington Redskins who got first pick this winter in the annual National Football League player draft. Washington traded him to Cleveland for veteran speedster Bobby Mitchell and the Brown's No. 1 draft selection, Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois, another blazing runner.

Coach Paul Brown said at the team's summer training camp in Hiram, Ohio, that the loss of Davis is a big blow.

"We expect to take Ernie to a Cleveland hospital possibly Friday where our team physician, Dr. Victor Ippolito, and appropriate specialists can supervise additional tests and set up a course of treatment.

"I visited Ernie (late Wednesday) and he looks and feels fine In fact, he said he felt well enough to get out and play in the All-Star game."

No-Hitter Comes After Some Disastrous Games

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—For Bill Monbouquette, better known as "Monbo," it was the sweet taste of perfection after four disastrous games.

For Early Wynn it was the bitter taste of frustration with an extra dose of acid thrown in.

Monbouquette pitched the season's fourth no hitter in the major leagues Wednesday night as the Boston Red Sox beat the Chicago White Sox 1-0. A second inning walk to Al Smith kept him from completing a perfect game.

Wynn, 42 years old and striving for his 298th victory in the road to the glamorous 300 mark, saw his performance go for naught. However he had five strikeouts to put him one ahead of Lefty Grove and in eighth place on the all major league list with 2,272.

As for Monbo, it was all triumph and glory, and this after having allowed 17 runs in 10 2-3 innings pitched in his last four starts.

The husky, 25-year-old righthander, who had not pitched a complete game since June 29 and whose last win was July 8, struck out seven. After he walked Smith in the second inning, Monbouquette retired the last 22 batters in order, winding up his sterling performance by fanning shortstop Luis Aparicio.

The White Sox hit only seven flies to the outfield and the closest one to a hit was Charlie Maxwell's second inning drive which outfielder Lu Clinton caught near the foul line.

Monbouquette, who was dropped from the second All-Star game roster because he had been having trouble winning recently, upped his season record to 9-10. In his five years in the majors he has a 47-46 record, including 14-14 last season and his top mark, 14-11, in 1960.

"I was conscious of the no-hitter all the way," Monbouquette admitted after the game. No one said anything to me on the bench of course (that would violate baseball tradition) but believe me I kept thinking about it.

"I said to myself in the eighth inning—just keep going and don't throw any more curves," he said. "At the start I was throwing a lot of curves but at the end it was all fast balls and sliders."

Folley Wins By Decision

DENVER (AP) — Heavyweight Zora Folley, who is a bank director in his home town at Chandler, Ariz., added $4,000 to his account today.

He got a close decision—and a swollen left eye—in a rapid-paced 10-round battle Wednesday night with Doug Jones of New York. Folley, who is No. 3 among heavyweight challengers, weighed in at 196½, which was 16 pounds more than his opponent. Neither came close to a knockdown.

The crowd was a disappointing 2,833 which paid $11,437.50. Jones also received a $4,000 guarantee.

The unanimous decision for Folley touched off plenty of booing. Referee Ray Keech and Judge Jack Capelli scored it 47-45 and the other judge, Bob Sauer, 47-46, under a system of 5 points per round. The Associated Press had it 47-45.

Milwaukee and San Francisco set a major league record when their nine - inning game on June 22 required four hours and two minutes. Two days later the same teams played a game in one hour and 49 minutes.

Monbouquette's No-Hitter Is Almost Perfect Game

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Like most members of the pitching fraternity, Boston's Billy Monbouquette has his good days and bad. When he's good, he's very, very good, and when he's bad, he's horrid.

Wednesday night the hefty right-hander was very, very good. In fact, he was almost perfect. The 25-year-old native of Medford, Mass., hurled the season's fourth no-hit, no-run game, a 1-0 triumph over Chicago in which only one White Sox reached base.

Strangely, Monbouquette had been having his troubles of late. A mainstay of the Boston staff for two seasons, he had been knocked out in his last four starts.

But he was the master of the situation Wednesday night. Only a second inning walk to Al Smith spoiled a perfect game. There were only two difficult chances, Charley Maxwell's long fly to right in the second and a blooper over second by Sherm Lollar in the fifth. Monbo retired the last 22 men in order.

Elsewhere in the American League, the first-place New York Yankees retained their six game margin over Los Angeles by taking a pair from Washington, 6-4 and 5-2 in 11 innings. Los Angeles also won two, beating Cleveland 2-1 and 8-4 in 10 innings. Detroit took two from Kansas City, 6-5 and 9-1. Minnesota out-lasted Baltimore 3-1 in 11 innings.

"Sure, it was a thrill. Sure, it was the best game I ever pitched" said Monbouquette, who once struck out 17 men in a night game at Washington. "Nellie Fox was the man I was afraid of," he said. "He never strikes out."

Fox came in to hit for Early Wynn, the White Sox' ancient pitching star seeking his 298th career victory, with one out in the ninth. Mombo got him on a tricky grounder to third, then struck out Luis Aparicio to end the game, pushing his record to 9-10 for the season. He struck out seven.

Other no-hitters this season were by Earl Wilson, Monbouquette's teammate, Bo Belinsky of the Los Angeles Angels and Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Lu Clinton drove in the only run in the game with a single in the eighth, following two-out singles by Jim Pagliaroni and Pete Runnels.

The Yankees pushed in three runs in the 11th inning of the nightcap at Washington to provide Whitey Ford with his 11th victory. Dale Long's double, a single by Elston Howard and John Blanchard's homer did the job.

The five-hit pitching of Dean Chance (8-6) and a four-run 10th inning brought the Angels their two victories over Cleveland.

The 10th inning tie-breaker in the nightcap came on a disputed balk called on Cleveland's Ruben Gomez with runners on second and third. Singles by Tom Burgess, Billy Moran and Felix Torres got the others.

Detroit, which got the benefit of 20 bases on balls in its two games with Kansas City, had to rally for three runs after two were out in the ninth to win the opener.

Reds Drive To 13th Win In Last 14

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just how far is up for Cincinnati's rambunctious Reds?

That was the big question today in the National League, where the bounce-back Reds are using Frank Robinson's big bat as a battering ram in an attempt to gain admittance to the throne room for the second consecutive year.

The Reds have reeled off 13 victories in 14 games—the latest a 5-1 conquest of the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

The triumph moved the third-place Reds to within 7½ games of league-leading Los Angeles and within 2½ of second-place San Francisco. The Dodgers were belted by Pittsburgh 9-1 while the Giants bowed to the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings.

In other AL action, the league-leading New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Washington 6-4 and 5-2 in 11 innings, the Los Angeles Angels whipped Cleveland twice 2-1 and 8-4 in 10 innings, Detroit swept Kansas City 6-5 and 9-1 and Minnesota defeated Baltimore 3-1 in 11 innings.

The Cardinals got to Jim O'Toole (11-11) for their lone run in the fourth inning on Julian Javier's triple and a single by Stan Musial, but Robinson's homer following a Jerry Lynch single put the Reds ahead to stay. Larry Jackson (9-9) was the loser.

The Pirates backed Bob Friend (12-10) with a 14-hit attack and made the most of three Dodger errors to snap out of a losing skid in which they had lost eight of nine games. Six runs in the third tagged Stan Williams (9-7) with the loss.

George Altman's two-run homer in the 10th inning settled a pitchers' duel between Bob Buhl (8-8) of the Cubs and Billy O'Dell (12-10) of the Giants. Buhl needed Don Cardwell's relief help in the bottom of the 10th.

Shaw (12-8) scattered eight hits in posting his third shutout of the year while the Braves collected only five hits, but used them more effectively to beat Hal Woodeshick (4-11). Milwaukee combined two hits and three walks for a pair of third inning runs and closed the scoring in the fifth on Joe Adcock's homer.

Tony Gonzalez paced the Phillies' 18-hit offensive with four hits—including a triple and double—and three runs batted in. The victory went to Dennis Bennett (4-6) with Al Jackson (5-13) the loser.

Davis May Be Lost For Season

Blood Disorder Stops Halfback

Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — All-America halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse, the 1961 Heisman Trophy winner, is suffering from a blood disorder that is expected to keep him from playing pro football this season with the Cleveland Browns.

The 22-year-old, 212-pounder who erased the great Jim Brown's yard-gaining records for the Orangemen, has been in Evanston Hospital undergoing tests since Monday. He was to have played with the College All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Friday night.

Art Modell, Cleveland president, flew to Chicago Wednesday, and after conferring with doctors treating Davis, said in a statement:

"At this moment it appears almost certain that Ernie will not be able to play for the Browns this season. The doctors at Evanston Hospital are still completing tests but have diagnosed his condition as a blood disorder requiring extended treatment and rest. The long range future depends on his response to those treatments."

The disorder, Modell said, was not contagious or infectious and presented no danger to the All-Stars with whom Davis has been in training for three weeks.

Davis was the No. 1 choice of the Washington Redskins who got first pick this winter in the annual National Football League player draft. Washington traded him to Cleveland for veteran speedster Bobby Mitchell and the Brown's No. 1 draft selection, Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois, another blazing runner.

The trade gave Cleveland the tremendous one-two punch of Brown and Davis in the same backfield.

Coach Paul Brown said at the team's summer training camp in Hiram, Ohio, that the loss of Davis is a big blow.

"We expect to take Ernie to a Cleveland hospital possibly Friday where our team physician, Dr. Victor Ippolito, and appropriate specialists can supervise additional tests and set up a course of treatment.

"I visited Ernie (late Wednesday) and he looks and feels fine In fact, he said he felt well enough to get out and play in the All-Star game."

Bull To Replace Davis

All-Stars Ready For Match With Packers Friday Night

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

Says Coach Otto Graham of the collegians:

"Physically the Packers won't push us around. I just hope we won't make any mental errors."

But the 1962 edition of the All-Stars, even with Ernie Davis of Syracuse sidelined, have much to recommend them.

They have John Hadl of Kansas, a talented quarterback; Ron Bull of Baylor, who is expected to step into the spot vacated by Davis; Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, a pin point passer; Jimmy Saxton of Texas, an explosive runner, and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, a powerful line smasher.

The loss of Davis was a severe blow. He is in bed with a blood disorder that may keep him from playing at all this year with the Cleveland Browns.

The game is the 29th in the series sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and will be televised and broadcast (ABC) starting at 8:45 p.m. EST.

The Packers are clear cut favorites. However Graham, in his first job of coaching, pulled a big upset when his collegians beat the Detroit Lions 35-19. Graham figures his present team has the potential.

All indications point to an open game.

Graham won't name his starting quarterback yet, but he said "if we use the spread much it has to be Hadl."

Dave Bowersock spaced six hits and only gave up one run until Friendly Bowling came on to score three in the last of the seventh.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

There are still big walleyes in Guilford Lake as was evidenced when Spencer "Tugboat" Hyaman proudly displayed one of 7 pounds, 14½ ounces measuring 27½ inches. The weighing in ceremony took place at Mark's Landing.

Spence and his brother Quinten came from Apple Grove, down the Ohio River. I knew them 25 years ago when they were farm kids...devilish boys but not bad boys.

Running true to form, I learned Spence did not catch the fish at all but J. R. Whiteman of Wellsville, a retired railroader and well - known gunsmith actually caught the fish on one of those deep running Heddon Sonar's. I have mentioned this fish getting lures before and it seems the big fish hang out in the deeper parts of the lake right on the bottom this time of the year. So there you have it, sound them out with a Sonar.

SPENCE now living in East Liverpool, tells me that all the young kids I used to know liying in the fertile Ohio River farm bottoms known as the "Pomeroy Bend" have moved to East Liverpool.

If they ever have a Meigs County reunion I hope I will be invited, since I spent some of my happiest days working for the Daily Tribune, a small - town daily published in Pomeroy.

Another person I happened to run across recently who knew me was a Mrs. Kaiser. Last time I saw her 25 years ago she was a very pretty young teen-ager with the maiden name of Mabel Hartenbough. She is now a resident of East Liverpool.

Another outstanding catch made at Guilford last week was a 4½-pound bass measuring 22½ inches, checked in at Bob's Bait House. It was taken off the retaining wall by Paul Graebing of Wellsville, who used a night crawler for bait. Other fish providing action at Guilford are bullhead and channel catfish, small crappies, 8-and-9-inch bass and big carp.

I HAD TWO fishermen tell me they tied on to two carp that they could not turn. Once hooked they took off for the other side of the lake and all they had to show for their efforts were snapped lines.

You will be surprised how many good fishermen enjoy carp fishing. You hook on to a carp of 10 pounds or more and you have a real scrapper on the line. They don't leap and break water like game fish, but they use all the brute force fish possess heading for deep water.

To settle a question: A license is required to hunt groundhogs, although there is no closed season on the animals. It is illegal to hunt them on Sunday, the penalty being $15 to $200.

Palmer Drops Exhibition By 7 Strokes To Jackie

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Masters and British Open champion Arnold Palmer is rested, rusty and richer.

The strong man from Latrobe, Pa., top-dollar man in golf this year, failed to get a birdie Wednesday as he lost an exhibition by seven strokes to 22-year-old Jack Nicklaus of Columbus. It was Nicklaus' second big exibition win in two days, following his 66 to 69 triumph Tuesday over Gary Player in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Nicklaus nicked Palmer by three strokes, 71-74, in the playoff for the National Open title at Oakmont, Pa., and their re-match here on Jack's home course — Scioto Country Club — had the earmarks of a classic.

It didn't turn out that way. Palmer won only two holes and lost nine and lost 71 to 78 on the 7,073-yard par 72 layout. Jack had three birdies and two bogeys. Plamer zoomed over the card on a half-dozen holes, three on each side.

In the neighborhood of 5,000 fans filled the fairways — and at $5 each that's not exactly a slum neighborhood. Nicklaus and Palmer were guaranteed $3,000 each, plus half the receipts over $10,000, so it was a fair payday for all involved.

Palmer said he couldn't recall the last time had had played a round without scoring a birdie. He said he had played only two nine-hole rounds since the PGA tournament, but was thoroughly rested after playing baseball and badminton with his youngsters.

"I'm going back home and start practicing for next week's American Golf Classic at Akron. I'll start working Friday, and I hope to be ready for the Firestone event," the big money man said.

Three busloads of airmen from Lockbourne Air Force Base served as marshals for the exhibition. Practically everyone in the gallery had one of those newfangled periscopes to see over the crowd—but even those in the front row used them.

Palmer overshot the green at least three times—once clearing the gallery at the back edge by 40 feet with an approach shot.

"Maybe the ball goes farther in this Ohio air than it does in that smoky Pennsylvania air, and he misjudges the distance," one high-heeled feminine galleryite observed.

On one occasion Palmer moved his ball only two feet on an attempted chip, he smothered another hook into a lake and he banged another second shot straight into the trunk of a tree, failing to gain an inch. He also had a trio of three-putters.

Pancho Valuable To U.S. Davis Cup Team As Coach

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — America's ace in the hole in the crucial Davis Cup tennis match against Mexico this weekend is the Mexican-descended team coach, pro champ Pancho Gonzales.

"If we pull this one out of the fire, enough credit can't be given to Pancho," says the U.S. captain, Bob Kelleher today.

"There are three specific areas in which Gonzales' value to us is inestimable. He is a great tactician. He commands respect from every man on the squad—they'd stand on their heads if he told them to do so. He gives them practice experience on the court such as you can't get anywhere in the world."

As a pro, Gonzales can't be on the sidelines but he'll be in the wings when the U.S. cuppers square off against the Mexicans in the best-of-five match series Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Chapultepec Sports Center.

Gonzales' coaching was credited with Alex Olmedo's and the United States' upset victory over heavily favored Australia in the Davis Cup challenge round at Brisbane in 1958. He was then a coach without portfolio, assisting Captain Perry Jones.

Now Gonzales is the official team coach, a job he took at great personal sacrifice and much to the chagrin of the Mexicans. The Mexicans made a bid for Pancho's services but the tall, dark Los Angeles pro, who lived in Mexico as a youngster, felt his first obligation was to Uncle Sam.

Gonzales has worked tirelessly whipping the American team into shape for the Mexican test. The Mexicans, with the gifted Rafael Osuna in the lineup, are favored to knock the Yanks out of the American Zone title for the first time in history.

The Americans are expected to use Chuck McKinley, St. Ann, Mo., and Jon Douglas, the former Stanford quarterback from Santa Monica, Calif., in singles, with McKinley and Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., playing the doubles.

'Oh My Aching Back' Means Bad Weather

The subject came up Wednesday, amidst laughter, at his news conference.

A reporter, noting that it had been some time since there had been a report on the President's health, asked:

"How is your aching back?"

Braves Brass Deny Rumors About Moving

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, disturbed by persistent rumors in various sections of the country, want it known they're not considering a move back to Boston—or anywhere else.

In an unusual move, Milwaukee club president and General Manager John McHale issued a statement Wednesday denying reports that the Braves are entertaining thoughts of another transfer.

McHale said the reports "are totally without fact and are unfair to the fans of Wisconsin." He added, "the Braves are not presently considering a move to Boston nor do they have any intention of considering such a move in the future."

The Braves moved from Boston to Milwaukee in the spring of 1953. In nine years the Braves attracted some 15 million fans to Milwaukee County Stadium. However, this season the Braves have drawn only 446,210 for 44 home dates—239,832 fewer than in the same number of appearances last season.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

There are still big walleyes in Guilford Lake as was evidenced when Spencer "Tugboat" Hyaman proudly displayed one of 7 pounds, 14½ ounces measuring 27½ inches. The weighing in ceremony took place at Mark's Landing.

Spence and his brother Quinten came from Apple Grove, down the Ohio River. I knew them 25 years ago when they were farm kids...devilish boys but not bad boys.

Running true to form, I learned Spence did not catch the fish at all but J. R. Whiteman of Wellsville, a retired railroader and well - known gunsmith actually caught the fish on one of those deep running Heddon Sonar's. I have mentioned this fish getting lures before and it seems the big fish hang out in the deeper parts of the lake right on the bottom this time of the year. So there you have it, sound them out with a Sonar.

SPENCE now living in East Liverpool, tells me that all the young kids I used to know living in the fertile Ohio River farm bottoms known as the "Pomeroy Bend" have moved to East Liverpool.

If they ever have a Meigs County reunion I hope I will be invited, since I spent some of my happiest days working for the Daily Tribune, a small - town daily published in Pomeroy.

Another person I happened to run across recently who knew me was a Mrs. Kaiser. Last time I saw her 25 years ago she was a very pretty young teen-ager with the maiden name of Mabel Hartenbough. She is now a resident of East Liverpool.

Another outstanding catch made at Guilford last week was a 4½-pound bass measuring 22½ inches, checked in at Bob's Bait House. It was taken off the retaining wall by Paul Graebing of Wellsville, who used a night crawler for bait. Other fish providing action at Guilford are bullhead and channel catfish, small crappies, 8-and-9-inch bass and big carp.

I HAD TWO fishermen tell me they tied on to two carp that they could not turn. Once hooked they took off for the other side of the lake and all they had to show for their efforts were snapped lines.

You will be surprised how many good fishermen enjoy carp fishing. You hook on to a carp of 10 pounds or more and you have a real scrapper on the line. They don't leap and break water like game fish, but they use all the brute force fish possess heading for deep water.

To settle a question: A license is required to hunt groundhogs, although there is no closed season on the animals. It is illegal to hunt them on Sunday, the penalty being $15 to $200.

Palmer Drops Exhibition By 7 Strokes To Jackie

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The strong man from Latrobe, Pa., top-dollar man in golf this year, failed to get a birdie Wednesday as he lost an exhibition by seven strokes to 22-year-old Jack Nicklaus of Columbus. It was Nicklaus' second big exibition win in two days, following his 66 to 69 triumph Tuesday over Gary Player in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Nicklaus nicked Palmer by three strokes, 71-74, in the playoff for the National Open title at Oakmont, Pa., and their re-match here on Jack's home course — Scioto Country Club — had the earmarks of a classic.

It didn't turn out that way. Palmer won only two holes and lost nine and lost 71 to 78 on the 7,073-yard par 72 layout. Jack had three birdies and two bogeys. Plamer zoomed over the card on a half-dozen holes, three on each side.

In the neighborhood of 5,000 fans filled the fairways — and at $5 each that's not exactly a slum neighborhood. Nicklaus and Palmer were guaranteed $3,000 each, plus half the receipts over $10,000, so it was a fair payday for all involved.

Palmer said he couldn't recall the last time had had played a round without scoring a birdie. He said he had played only two nine-hole rounds since the PGA tournament, but was thoroughly rested after playing baseball and badminton with his youngsters.

"I'm going back home and start practicing for next week's American Golf Classic at Akron. I'll start working Friday, and I hope to be ready for the Firestone event," the big money man said.

Three busloads of airmen from Lockbourne Air Force Base served as marshals for the exhibition. Practically everyone in the gallery had one of those new-fangled periscopes to see over the crowd—but even those in the front row used them.

Palmer overshot the green at least three times—once clearing the gallery at the back edge by 40 feet with an approach shot.

"Maybe the ball goes farther in this Ohio air than it does in that smoky Pennsylvania air, and he misjudges the distance," one high-heeled feminine galleryite observed.

On one occasion Palmer moved his ball only two feet on an attempted chip, he smothered another hook into a lake and he banged another second shot straight into the trunk of a tree, failing to gain an inch. He also had a trio of three-putters.

Pancho Valuable To U.S. Davis Cup Team As Coach

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — America's ace in the hole in the crucial Davis Cup tennis match against Mexico this weekend is the Mexican-descended team coach, pro champ Pancho Gonzales.

"There are three specific areas in which Gonzales' value to us is inestimable. He is a great tactician. He commands respect from every man on the squad—they'd stand on their heads if he told them to do so. He gives them practice experience on the court such as you can't get anywhere in the world."

As a pro, Gonzales can't be on the sidelines but he'll be in the wings when the U.S. cuppers square off against the Mexicans in the best-of-five match series Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Chapultepec Sports Center.

Gonzales' coaching was credited with Alex Olmedo's and the United States' upset victory over heavily favored Australia in the Davis Cup challenge round at Brisbane in 1958. He was then a coach without portfolio, assisting Captain Perry Jones.

Now Gonzales is the official team coach, a job he took at great personal sacrifice and much to the chagrin of the Mexicans. The Mexicans made a bid for Pancho's services but the tall, dark Los Angeles pro, who lived in Mexico as a youngster, felt his first obligation was to Uncle Sam.

Gonzales has worked tirelessly whipping the American team into shape for the Mexican test. The Mexicans, with the gifted Rafael Osuna in the lineup, are favored to knock the Yanks out of the American Zone title for the first time in history.

The Americans are expected to use Chuck McKinley, St. Ann, Mo., and Jon Douglas, the former Stanford quarterback from Santa Monica, Calif., in singles, with McKinley and Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., playing the doubles.

'Oh My Aching Back' Means Bad Weather

The subject came up Wednesday, amidst laughter, at his news conference.

A reporter, noting that it had been some time since there had been a report on the President's health, asked:

"How is your aching back?"

Braves Brass Deny Rumors About Moving

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, disturbed by persistent rumors in various sections of the country, want it known they're not considering a move back to Boston—or anywhere else.

In an unusual move, Milwaukee club president and General Manager John McHale issued a statement Wednesday denying reports that the Braves are entertaining thoughts of another transfer.

McHale said the reports "are totally without fact and are unfair to the fans of Wisconsin." He added, "the Braves are not presently considering a move to Boston nor do they have any intention of considering such a move in the future."

The Braves moved from Boston to Milwaukee in the spring of 1953. In nine years the Braves attracted some 15 million fans to Milwaukee County Stadium. However, this season the Braves have drawn only 446,210 for 44 home dates—239,832 fewer than in the same number of appearances last season.

Out Of The Air

Where Are The Girls?

Today, we return to an old preoccupation. Girls. Where have they all gone to, anyway?

I was asking this of Anne Bancroft a couple of weeks ago. "Where," I inquired, "have the Marilyn Monroes disappeared to? All we get is an occasional glimpse of Bess Myerson. The few girls we see, in fact, all speak and behave and look like Bess."

Alan Gill

THE FIRST actresses I came across were featured in a movie called "Boccaccio '70." They were Sophia Loren, Anita Ekberg and Romi Schneider.

Running my fevered eyes down the page, I encountered Joan Collins, Dolores Hart, the "Lolita" girl, Lilli Palmer, Shelley Winters, Carol Lawrence, Maureen O'Hara, Marlene Dietrich, Judy Garland, Doris Day, Kim Novak, Anne Bancroft and (in two additional listings) Sophia Loren.

The jig, I realized, was up.

But later, as I licked my wounds in the White Horse Tavern, the thought struck me that, sue, the Ekbergs and Lorens and Novaks and "Lolitas" are filling our movie screens, but where are their counterparts of television?

SULTRY GLAMOR and "oomph and "it" are still the lovely staples of a box office industry that isn't concerned with the selling of corn flakes, cold cream, robot commandos and deep freezers.

Television, which is a door-to-door salesman with a salesman's smile on its face and a salesman's shine on its shoes, is peddling an image. The image is that of the suburban housewife and not that of the cupie doll girl friend. Television's answer to Anita Ekberg is Donna Reed.

SINCE the disappearance of Dagmar many years ago, the television dame has been pretty hearth-and-homeish.

Loretta Young always has struck me as an apron and hair-curler type, despite the Moisiev Dancers entrance. Her head (I keep imagining) can be screwed off in the morning like the cap on a tooth paste tube. And to her, I'm sure, cleanliness is next to godliness.

("Cleanliness," said Anne Bancroft as Annie Sullivan in "The Miracle Worker," "is next to nothing," and she said a mouthful.) Miss Young will be back next season as a widow with seven children on her moist, unwrinkled, white hands. Miss Young, as a widow with seven children, is a far cry from "oomph."

THE SORORITY SISTERS of Miss Reed and Miss Young, though their numbers are indeed small, are equally as well scubbed, bushy tailed and (in an attractive way) matronly.

Lucille Ball will have to forgive me the adjective, and so will June Allyson. (I don't suppose Shirley Booth or Gertrude Berg will mind.) They have, to a woman, the qualifications a mentholated cigarette manufacturer looks for.

Wetting their fingers, they flip through the photographs hungrily. Monroe? No thank you. Ekberg? Not on your life. Loren? The Lord save us. Ah! There she is! Barbara Bel Geddes!

MEANWHILE, the men—clear of eye, blue of cheek, trim of jowl—go on, keeping the population explosion on the Western range to a minimum, preserving law and order, working up yoks about power mowers and crabgrass, chewing up issues around the round tables, selling gasolines and beers, showing off in clown suits, reading the news and carrying home the Emmys.

Television is man's work. And it's a shame.

New Talk Set In Civil Rights Plan For City

A committee from the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will seek a conference with Council in a caucus session Monday night at 7 to renew discussion of its proposal for creation of a city Civil Rights Commission.

The decision to discuss the question again with Council was reached Wednesday afternoon when three spokesmen for the NAACP conferred at City Hall with Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Frank Duffy, a member of the Council planning committee.

The planning committee was asked to investigate the proposal for a Civil Rights Commission, which was made to Council July 16 by Alonzo Spencer, president of the NAACP branch.

Spencer represented the NAACP in the meeting yesterday, along with Caesar Peters and John Fitch.

In submitting the proposal to Council, Spencer said such a commission could investigate complaints of discrimination. He said a local authority would be far better than a state or regional group to investigate East Liverpool problems, in his opinion.

In the meeting yesterday, Duffy presented a letter which Councilman Floyd Murray received from the State Civil Rights Commission in answer to an inquiry seeking more information on administration of Ohio laws against discrimination. The state office promised to send a representative to East Liverpool to meet with local officials in establishing a commission.

In the conference Monday night, the NAACP representatives will ask all members of Council to attend the meeting with the state representative and the planning committee.

K. Of C. Unit At Wellsville Wins Award

Award of a state Star Council plaque to Wellsville Council 507 of the Knights of Columbus was announced at its meeting Tuesday night when the six-point program committee reported on the diocesan workshop held Saturday at Canton.

The plaque was presented by state officials at the Canton event and was accepted by John Kozora, past grand knight, and Anthony DeSaro, past deputy grand knight. The council won the award for its point score in meeting a quota of activities.

Reporting on the workshop were James McPeak, grand knight; Fred Morrow, deputy grand knight, and Joseph Guilioni, Andrew Holowaty, Pete Olesky, DeSaro and John Regan, committeemen.

In other reports, Holowaty, solicitation committeeman, said the canvass of business places and homes will continue this week for funds for the annual St. Rocco Day festival.

Robert Graham received the "Knight of the Month" award for July. McPeak presided at the meeting in the K. of C. Hall. The council will meet again Tuesday night at 8.

Dayton Officers Count On Mr. Bon-Bon's Aid

He also took Mr. Cutie Bon-Bon, a white French poodle, who should be easier to identify than the rings or other property.

$5,000 Bond Set For Ohio Woman In Check Cases

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Bond has been set at $5,000 for blonde, shapely and suntanned Beverly Jean Lambert, a 21-year-old Warren, Ohio, native charged on 23 counts of forgery and with conspiracy in passing worthless checks.

Appearing in short shorts in City Court Wednesday, Miss Lambert waived a preliminary hearing. She was ordered held for Superior Court trial.

Miss Lambert, who was arrested in Daytona Beach, Fla., is among six persons arrested in connection with a ring that manufactured and passed bad checks in at least eight states. She also faces charges in Knoxville and Nashville, Tenn.

Charlotte detective Fred Hucks said Dennis Mason, recently convicted in Oklahoma City, was the ringleader. He said Mason used a printing press and checkwriter to produce phony checks which the others passed.

Police found the body of Frank Champanella, 48, on the bathroom floor of his home. Since the divorce, Champanella had occupied the downstairs of the home and his ex-wife lived on the second floor.

Out Of The Air

Where Are The Girls?

Today, we return to an old preoccupation. Girls. Where have they all gone to, anyway?

I was asking this of Anne Bancroft a couple of weeks ago. "Where," I inquired, "have the Marilyn Monroes disappeared to? All we get is an occasional glimpse of Bess Myerson. The few girls we see, in fact, all speak and behave and look like Bess."

Alan Gill

THE FIRST actresses I came across were featured in a movie called "Boccaccio '70." They were Sophia Loren, Anita Ekberg and Romi Schneider.

Running my fevered eyes down the page, I encountered Joan Collins, Dolores Hart, the "Lolita" girl, Lilli Palmer, Shelley Winters, Carol Lawrence, Maureen O'Hara, Marlene Dietrich, Judy Garland, Doris Day, Kim Novak, Anne Bancroft and (in two additional listings) Sophia Loren.

The jig, I realized, was up.

But later, as I licked my wounds in the White Horse Tavern, the thought struck me that, sue, the Ekbergs and Lorens and Novaks and "Lolitas" are filling our movie screens, but where are their counterparts of television?

SULTRY GLAMOR and "oomph and "it" are still the lovely staples of a box office industry that isn't concerned with the selling of corn flakes, cold cream, robot commandos and deep freezers.

Television, which is a door-to-door salesman with a salesman's smile on its face and a salesman's shine on its shoes, is peddling an image. The image is that of the suburban housewife and not that of the cupie doll girl friend. Television's answer to Anita Ekberg is Donna Reed.

SINCE the disappearance of Dagmar many years ago, the television dame has been pretty hearth-and-homeish.

Loretta Young always has struck me as an apron and hair-curler type, despite the Moisiev Dancers entrance. Her head (I keep imagining) can be screwed off in the morning like the cap on a tooth paste tube. And to her, I'm sure, cleanliness is next to godliness.

("Cleanliness," said Anne Bancroft as Annie Sullivan in "The Miracle Worker," "is next to nothing," and she said a mouthful.) Miss Young will be back next season as a widow with seven children on her moist, unwrinkled, white hands. Miss Young, as a widow with seven children, is a far cry from "oomph."

THE SORORITY SISTERS of Miss Reed and Miss Young, though their numbers are indeed small, are equally as well scubbed, bushy tailed and (in an attractive way) matronly.

Lucille Ball will have to forgive me the adjective, and so will June Allyson. (I don't suppose Shirley Booth or Gertrude Berg will mind.) They have, to a woman, the qualifications a mentholated cigarette manufacturer looks for.

But can't you imagine a sponsor's conference as the assembled gentlemen look over a list of prospective stars for their new TV series?

Wetting their fingers, they flip through the photographs hungrily. Monroe? No thank you. Ekberg? Not on your life. Loren? The Lord save us. Ah! There she is! Barbara Bel Geddes!

I'll bet Barbara Bel Geddes gets a bushel of offers every day for a starring role in a series about a widow with—well, three children.

MEANWHILE, the men—clear of eye, blue of cheek, trim of jowl—go on, keeping the population explosion on the Western range to a minimum, preserving law and order, working up yoks about power mowers and crabgrass, chewing up issues around the round tables, selling gasolines and beers, showing off in clown suits, reading the news and carrying home the Emmys.

Television is man's work. And it's a shame.

New Talk Set In Civil Rights Plan For City

A committee from the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will seek a conference with Council in a caucus session Monday night at 7 to renew discussion of its proposal for creation of a city Civil Rights Commission.

The decision to discuss the question again with Council was reached Wednesday afternoon when three spokesmen for the NAACP conferred at City Hall with Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Frank Duffy, a member of the Council planning committee.

The planning committee was asked to investigate the proposal for a Civil Rights Commission, which was made to Council July 16 by Alonzo Spencer, president of the NAACP branch.

Spencer represented the NAACP in the meeting yesterday, along with Caesar Peters and John Fitch.

In submitting the proposal to Council, Spencer said such a commission could investigate complaints of discrimination. He said a local authority would be far better than a state or regional group to investigate East Liverpool problems, in his opinion.

In the meeting yesterday, Duffy presented a letter which Councilman Floyd Murray received from the State Civil Rights Commission in answer to an inquiry seeking more information on administration of Ohio laws against discrimination. The state office promised to send a representative to East Liverpool to meet with local officials in establishing a commission.

In the conference Monday night, the NAACP representatives will ask all members of Council to attend the meeting with the state representative and the planning committee.

K. Of C. Unit At Wellsville Wins Award

Award of a state Star Council plaque to Wellsville Council 507 of the Knights of Columbus was announced at its meeting Tuesday night when the six-point program committee reported on the diocesan workshop held Saturday at Canton.

The plaque was presented by state officials at the Canton event and was accepted by John Kozora, past grand knight, and Anthony DeSaro, past deputy grand knight. The council won the award for its point score in meeting a quota of activities.

Reporting on the workshop were James McPeak, grand knight; Fred Morrow, deputy grand knight, and Joseph Guilioni, Andrew Holowaty, Pete Olesky, DeSaro and John Regan, committeemen.

In other reports, Holowaty, solicitation committeeman, said the canvass of business places and homes will continue this week for funds for the annual St. Rocco Day festival.

Robert Graham received the "Knight of the Month" award for July. McPeak presided at the meeting in the K. of C. Hall. The council will meet again Tuesday night at 8.

Dayton Officers Count On Mr. Bon-Bon's Aid

He also took Mr. Cutie Bon-Bon, a white French poodle, who should be easier to identify than the rings or other property.

Controversy Springs Up As Slayer Cheats Chair

CHICAGO (AP)—Legal controversy swirled today around Paul Crump, a convicted slayer whose electrocution sentence was commuted on the strength of an unprecedented plea.

Gov. Otto Kerner decided Wednesday that Crump, less than 35 hours away from death in the electric chair for a 1953 murder, should be spared.

The governor, in his clemency message in Springfield, said Crump, 32, "must be accepted as rehabilitated."

Crump, a Negro in his nine year fight to escape the electric chair had won 14 stays of execution. The U.S. Supreme Court had three times refused to hear his appeal.

Clemency was the governor's decision alone to make. However, controversy grew over Kerner's statement that Crump should serve "199 years without parole."

Statehouse legal experts said the governor has no authority over granting paroles, a matter solely up to the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board.

Crump received the news of his escape from the electric chair from Warden Jack Johnson in the jail where the condemned man had spent the last nine years.

"All the credit," Crump said in a voice shaky with emotion, "should go to God for my life. I thank God, Governor Kerner and all the men who had faith and worked so hard to bring this case to the attention of the governor and the public."

Crump's plea, pressed by his advocates at a hearing of the parole and pardon board Monday, was unprecedented because he no longer denied killing Theodore Zukowski, 44, during a $20,000 robbery. Five other guards also were beaten in the robbery of a Libby, McNeil & Libby Co. plant on the South Side.

Instead, Crump asked his life be spared because he had changed in prison from a vicious killer to a cooperative, peaceable prisoner.

Midland NAACP Will Send Group To State Session

The Midland branch of the NAACP expects to send two carloads of members to the state NAACP conference Aug. 12 at Bedford (Pa) Springs Hotel, Will T. Leavell, president, said.

The branch met Wednesday night at the Steelworkers Hall. Its membership drive concluded last night and it was announced that Mrs. Elvira Smith obtained the most, 43, and will be presented a plaque. The branch has 150 members.

Leavell said plans are being made for a display during the week of Oct. 7 at Lincoln High School in observance of George Washington Carver Week. He said the observance stresses the need for education. A representative of the state's Human Relations Commission, which is sponsoring the observance, will speak to youth and show a film at one of the local churches.

Next meeting is Sept. 5.

Ashland Oil's Income Rises

Ashland Oil & Refining Co. of Ashland, Ky., has reported net income of $10,943,589 on sales of $237,466,070, for the first nine months of fiscal 1962, up from $10,712,113 on sales of $229,940,910 for the same period last year.

Income per share of common stock for the nine months was $1.47 compared with $1.49 for a year ago. More shares of common stock were outstanding this year as the result of conversion of second preferred stock into common shares under a privilege which expired in June. Remaining shares of convertible second preferred stock have been called for redemption on Spet. 15.

Rexford S. Blazer, board chairman, and Everett F. Wells, president, said that net income for the three months ended June 30 was only slightly lower than for the same period of a year ago and was "better than had been anticipated in view of continuing gasoline price wars."

The Board of Directors has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share on common stock and the usual dividends on preferred stocks, all payable Sept. 15 to stockholders of record on Aug. 13.

Democratic Leader Questions Ohio Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, took exception today to a recent poll conducted by the Ohio Information Committee. The poll showed incumbent Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle received only nominal support in his bid for re-election.

"It should be noted," Coleman said in a prepared statement, "that this same organization which presently finds a lopsided support for candidate Rhodes (State Auditor James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor) also found similarly high support for the unsuccessful right-to-work law of 1958."

Gov. Otto Kerner decided Wednesday that Crump, less than 35 hours away from death in the electric chair for a 1953 murder, should be spared.

The governor, in his clemency message in Springfield, said Crump, 32, "must be accepted as rehabilitated."

Crump, a Negro in his nine year fight to escape the electric chair had won 14 stays of execution. The U.S. Supreme Court had three times refused to hear his appeal.

Clemency was the governor's decision alone to make. However, controversy grew over Kerner's statement that Crump should serve "199 years without parole."

Statehouse legal experts said the governor has no authority over granting paroles, a matter solely up to the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board.

Crump received the news of his escape from the electric chair from Warden Jack Johnson in the jail where the condemned man had spent the last nine years.

"All the credit," Crump said in a voice shaky with emotion, "should go to God for my life. I thank God, Governor Kerner and all the men who had faith and worked so hard to bring this case to the attention of the governor and the public."

Crump's plea, pressed by his advocates at a hearing of the parole and pardon board Monday, was unprecedented because he no longer denied killing Theodore Zukowski, 44, during a $20,000 robbery. Five other guards also were beaten in the robbery of a Libby, McNeil & Libby Co. plant on the South Side.

Instead, Crump asked his life be spared because he had changed in prison from a vicious killer to a cooperative, peaceable prisoner.

Midland NAACP Will Send Group To State Session

The Midland branch of the NAACP expects to send two carloads of members to the state NAACP conference Aug. 12 at Bedford (Pa) Springs Hotel, Will T. Leavell, president, said.

The branch met Wednesday night at the Steelworkers Hall. Its membership drive concluded last night and it was announced that Mrs. Elvira Smith obtained the most, 43, and will be presented a plaque. The branch has 150 members.

Leavell said plans are being made for a display during the week of Oct. 7 at Lincoln High School in observance of George Washington Carver Week. He said the observance stresses the need for education. A representative of the state's Human Relations Commission, which is sponsoring the observance, will speak to youth and show a film at one of the local churches.

Aaron Golding, a delegate to the recent 53rd national convention at Atlanta, reported on the convention which stressed voter registration. Mrs. Martha Gray, chairman, reported on a picnic held in June.

Next meeting is Sept. 5.

Ashland Oil's Income Rises

Ashland Oil & Refining Co. of Ashland, Ky., has reported net income of $10,943,589 on sales of $237,466,070, for the first nine months of fiscal 1962, up from $10,712,113 on sales of $229,940,910 for the same period last year.

Income per share of common stock for the nine months was $1.47 compared with $1.49 for a year ago. More shares of common stock were outstanding this year as the result of conversion of second preferred stock into common shares under a privilege which expired in June. Remaining shares of convertible second preferred stock have been called for redemption on Spet. 15.

Rexford S. Blazer, board chairman, and Everett F. Wells, president, said that net income for the three months ended June 30 was only slightly lower than for the same period of a year ago and was "better than had been anticipated in view of continuing gasoline price wars."

The Board of Directors has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share on common stock and the usual dividends on preferred stocks, all payable Sept. 15 to stockholders of record on Aug. 13.

Democratic Leader Questions Ohio Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, took exception today to a recent poll conducted by the Ohio Information Committee. The poll showed incumbent Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle received only nominal support in his bid for re-election.

"It should be noted," Coleman said in a prepared statement, "that this same organization which presently finds a lopsided support for candidate Rhodes (State Auditor James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor) also found similarly high support for the unsuccessful right-to-work law of 1958."

200 At Seminar For GOP Women

Some 200 — the largest gathering of Columbiana County Republican women workers in years—attended the daylong political education seminar at the New Waterford Fish & Game Club Wednesday.

Visual aids were used to demonstrate what each woman can do in her block towards a GOP victory in November in discussions during the seminar entitled "You — The Woman In Your Block."

MISS GLADYS DeBolt of East Liverpool, Columbiana County chairwoman, presided and Mrs. Letha Astry of Salem, 18th District committeewoman, and Mrs. Florence G. Morris of Toledo, vice chairman of the Republican State Central and Executive Committee, also took part in the program.

Mrs. Morris, speaker, told the group:

"We have an administration in Washington dedicated to socializing America. They are contemptuous of businessmen and of the free enterprise system that made America great. We have a president who is seeking to usurp the Constitution and taken unto himself powers our Founding Fathers never intended him to have.

"THE ONLY answer to the present unhealthy situation in Washington is to elect Republicans to Congress. Only a GOP congress will stop this headlong rush to Socialism. If you will work to send John J. Carrigg, Robert Taft Jr. and John Marshall Briley to Washington you will be doing your country a great service.

"The state picture isn't much brighter. We Republicans have a fight on our hands, make no mistake about it. We must elect James A. Rhodes, governor. Three and one half years of Mr. DiSalle is enough. His actions in Ohio are but a mirror of the Federal Bureaucracy.

"IF YOU will work on your block from now until election day, knocking on doors, ringing bells and telling the people our good Republican story, you will insure a Republican victory this November and you will help preserve those precious rights and heritages for yourself and your children."

Charles A. Pike of Lisbon, county GOP chairman, discussed new state election laws and three of the candidates who were introduced spoke briefly. They were Dr. Carrigg, Donald Elliott of Rogers, for state senator, and Rep. Clarence Wetzel of Lisbon, state representative.

OTHERS presented were James Boyd of East Liverpool, for commissioner; Judge Raymond Buzzard of East Liverpool, for Common Pleas Court; Barry Dickson of East Palestine, Ed Greenamyer of Leetonia, for county judge, and T. Emerson Smith of Salem, for auditor. Incumbent Republican office-holders were introduced by Mrs. Sarah Huntt, president of the Columbiana women's club.

Mrs. Florence Dornon, president of the East Palestine club, gave the invocation and led the Pledge of Allegiance. Lunch was served by the auxiliary of the fish and game club and hostesses were presidents of the six county clubs — Mrs. Huntt, Mrs. Dornon, Mrs. Mary Lindner of Salem, Mrs. Vida Davies of Lisbon and Mrs. Betty Rager and Mrs. Mary Clark, co-presidents of the Wellsville group.

Police Hold Man In Theft Case As Parole Violator

A man who was pursued and captured after a minor theft from a parked auto early today is being held as a parole violator, police reported.

Arthur Lee McCune, 664 Riley Ave., was fined $15 and costs this morning by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty on an intoxication charge filed by Patrolman Jerry Adkins. He was returned to jail to await arrival of a state parole officer. Police said McCune is on parole from a term for auto theft.

Officer Adkins reported he was on a foot beat on Dresden Ave. at 12:38 this morning when John Walsh, 137 W. 2nd St., halted him and advised he had caught a man in the act of stealing several items from his auto.

Walsh pointed out the suspect, who was walking west on W. 7th St. near Jackson St., Officer Adkins said. The patrolman said he called to the man to halt, but the man ran in the other direction. Walsh and the patrolman pursued the man and caught him in Rural Ln. near Jackson St., the officer said.

A flashlight and a small can of oil were recovered from McCune and the suspect admitted taking them from Walsh's auto, Officer Adkins said.

Missile Is Launched From Bombproof Pit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An advanced Atlas missile was lifted from its underground lair and fired on a 5,000-mile flight to the Marshall Islands area, headquarters for tests of the Nike Zeus interceptor rocket.

The launching Wednesday was the lift-and-launch test of the country's newest ocean-spanning missile from its bombproof pit.

Spokesmen said the firing was a dress rehearsal for an operational test with Strategic Air Command crews at the controls. The servicemen looked on as scientists and engineers ran the countdown.

The Air Force said the flight was successful but declined to give further information.

Clement Seen Man To Beat In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Former Gov. Frank Clement, the "boy wonder" of Tennessee politics a decade ago, is rated as the man to beat today in a three-way contest for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Opposing him in a race that focused more on personalities than issues were City Commissioner William W. Farris of Memphis and veteran Chattanooga Mayor P. G. Olgiatti.

Clement, now 42, campaigned on his record as governor from 1953-59, citing his administration's accomplishments in education, mental health, welfare and industry recruiting. He invited his rivals to state which of these programs they disapproved.

Farris, 38, and Olgiatti, 61, contended Clement's record was one of broken promises, exaggerations and mistakes. They hit repeatedly at his associations with Billie Sol Estes, the bankrupt Texas financial wizard, and called for an explanation.

The Texas attorney general's office recently produced documents it said showed Clement and his father, Robert S. Clement, shared in profits from an Estes housing project at Blytheville, Ark.

The primary is a winner-take-all affair, since Tennessee has no runoff primary. The Democratic nominee is almost certain to be elected to a four-year term in November. Republicans seldom make a serious play for the office.

The winner will succeed Gov. Buford Ellington, ineligible for another term and neutral in this race. Most of Ellington's organization worked hard for Clement.

Eight of the state's nine congressmen, seven Democrats and one Republican, seek renomination. Three faced serious opposition—Reps. James Frazier of Chattanooga, Carlton Loser of Nashville and Clifford Davis of Memphis, all Democrats.

65 Units Listed For Parade At Chester Friday

The procession will move south on 2nd St. to Carolina Ave., then east on Carolina Ave. to 6th St. and south on 6th St. to Rock Springs Park, according to Jerrold Wilson, parade committee chairman.

Cash prizes will be awarded to winners in various classes. The reviewing stand will be on Carolina Ave. between 5th and 6th Sts. Mayor Harry Abrams will be parade marshal.

Parking will be banned on Virginia Ave., 2nd St., 3rd St. and Carolina Ave. from 2nd to 6th St. after 4 p. m.

Car Had No Motor, Plate Case Dropped

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — John J. Schwable came up with a classic alibi when he was charged with having no license plates on an automobile parked on a city street. It won him a dismissal from Mayor Richard D. Maier.

Schwable said the car had no engine and no transmission and therefore could not be classed as a motor vehicle. Maier scratched his head in puzzlement, but found that the city ordinance and state law on license plates pertain to motor vehicles. Since the car had no motor, the mayor dismissed the charge.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Reducer Hits Weight-Loss Stalemate

Conscientious dieters who have succeeded in reducing considerable poundage but still are many pounds from ideal complain that although they eat very little, they no longer lose. Dieters ask what to do in such a dilemma.

Ida Jean Kain

This dietitian's advice would be this. Eat — don't stay on semi-starvation rations. Do not lower calories below 1,000 a day. Eat three adequate meals a day and include protein at each of the three meals. And, most important, step up exercise to encourage the body to burn more fuel.

It could be that you have reached the point of diminishing returns on calorie cutting. In prolonged dieting, nature tends to economize on calories.

THE BODY SEEMS able to adjust itself to a slightly lower level of metabolism in order to conserve fuel. This adjustment of the body to run with greater economy of energy does not occur with short-term diets.

When keeping weight down is a struggle, it is important to eat three meals a day so as to take advantage of the specific dynamic action of food. The effect of food in raising the metabolism above the basal level is called its specific dynamic action. The metabolism begins to rise about an hour after a meal is eaten, continues to rise for about three hours, then decreases. Protein causes the greatest rise in metabolism.

From this explanation, it is easy to figure that on three meals a day the metabolism is kept elevated for many hours. This explains how it is possible to lose more weight by dividing the day's calories into three meals than it is if the bulk of calories are eaten at one big meal, say at dinner.

Muscular activity steps up calorie burning more than any other single factor. Take full advantage of summer sports and the chance to play outdoors. A daily walk plus regular non-strenuous calisthenics will help you to lose weight while eating enough food to feel satisfied and happy.

A safe diet is deficient in only one respect -- calories. While fuel can be used from any source, the repair and regulating materials come chiefly from protective foods.

Here are the foods required daily: Milk, skim milk or buttermilk, 1 pint; lean meat, fish or fowl, 4 to 6 ounces, cooked weight; 1 egg or a half cup of cottage cheese; vegetables and fruits, 4 servings each, including one citrus fruit and one dark green vegetable; bread or alternates, 2 servings.

IN PROLONGED dieting, it is of the utmost importance that all the protective nutrients be furnished in adequate amounts.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet" and illustrated exercise leaflet entitled "Away With Middle Spread." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

Negro Presides At Dayton Talks On 'Inequality'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Don Crawford, a Negro, served as acting mayor at the Dayton City Commission meeting Wednesday night — the same night a Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) delegation attended to protest alleged discrimination in the city.

Crawford, a member of the five-man commission, was filling in for the first time in the absence of vacationing Mayor Frank Somers. Crawford is Dayton's first Negro commissioner.

About 40 members of CORE marched to the City Hall steps, sang a spiritual, said a prayer and entered the meeting room—to challenge Dayton's nomination as an "All-American City" in national competition.

W. S. McIntosh, leading the demonstrators, charged that the city has too much discrimination to qualify as "All-American." McIntosh charged that Dayton's 70,000 Negroes are taxed without representation and claimed they are prejudicially treated in hiring for police department and other city jobs.

In Cincinnati Wednesday a group of Negro clergymen and laymen staged prayer demonstrations, saying they were to protest treatment of southern Negroes, especially in Albany, Ga.

A spokesman for the group said about 400 Negroes had gathered in Bethlehem Baptist Church and about 75 others at Zion Benevolent Baptist Church at the same time as the Courthouse gathering.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Reducer Hits Weight-Loss Stalemate

Conscientious dieters who have succeeded in reducing considerable poundage but still are many pounds from ideal complain that although they eat very little, they no longer lose. Dieters ask what to do in such a dilemma.

Ida Jean Kain

This dietitian's advice would be this. Eat — don't stay on semi-starvation rations. Do not lower calories below 1,000 a day. Eat three adequate meals a day and include protein at each of the three meals. And, most important, step up exercise to encourage the body to burn more fuel.

It could be that you have reached the point of diminishing returns on calorie cutting. In prolonged dieting, nature tends to economize on calories.

THE BODY SEEMS able to adjust itself to a slightly lower level of metabolism in order to conserve fuel. This adjustment of the body to run with greater economy of energy does not occur with short-term diets.

When keeping weight down is a struggle, it is important to eat three meals a day so as to take advantage of the specific dynamic action of food. The effect of food in raising the metabolism above the basal level is called its specific dynamic action. The metabolism begins to rise about an hour after a meal is eaten, continues to rise for about three hours, then decreases. Protein causes the greatest rise in metabolism.

From this explanation, it is easy to figure that on three meals a day the metabolism is kept elevated for many hours. This explains how it is possible to lose more weight by dividing the day's calories into three meals than it is if the bulk of calories are eaten at one big meal, say at dinner.

Muscular activity steps up calorie burning more than any other single factor. Take full advantage of summer sports and the chance to play outdoors. A daily walk plus regular non-strenuous calisthenics will help you to lose weight while eating enough food to feel satisfied and happy.

A safe diet is deficient in only one respect — calories. While fuel can be used from any source, the repair and regulating materials come chiefly from protective foods.

Here are the foods required daily: Milk, skim milk or buttermilk, 1 pint; lean meat, fish or fowl, 4 to 6 ounces, cooked weight; 1 egg or a half cup of cottage cheese; vegetables and fruits, 4 servings each, including one citrus fruit and one dark green vegetable; bread or alternates, 2 servings.

IN PROLONGED dieting, it is of the utmost importance that all the protective nutrients be furnished in adequate amounts.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet" and illustrated exercise leaflet entitled "Away With Middle Spread." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

Negro Presides At Dayton Talks On 'Inequality'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Don Crawford, a Negro, served as acting mayor at the Dayton City Commission meeting Wednesday night — the same night a Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) delegation attended to protest alleged discrimination in the city.

Crawford, a member of the five-man commission, was filling in for the first time in the absence of vacationing Mayor Frank Somers. Crawford is Dayton's first Negro commissioner.

About 40 members of CORE marched to the City Hall steps, sang a spiritual, said a prayer and entered the meeting room—to challenge Dayton's nomination as an "All-American City" in national competition.

W. S. McIntosh, leading the demonstrators, charged that the city has too much discrimination to qualify as "All-American." McIntosh charged that Dayton's 70,000 Negroes are taxed without representation and claimed they are prejudicially treated in hiring for police department and other city jobs.

In Cincinnati Wednesday a group of Negro clergymen and laymen staged prayer demonstrations, saying they were to protest treatment of southern Negroes, especially in Albany, Ga.

A spokesman for the group said about 400 Negroes had gathered in Bethlehem Baptist Church and about 75 others at Zion Benevolent Baptist Church at the same time as the Courthouse gathering.

Ohio Gives Record High To Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is contributing a record $114 a year towards the education of each public school pupil according to a new legislative study report.

Figures compiled by the Legislative Service Commission, fact-finding arm of the General Assembly, showed that the contribution 10 years ago was $78 a pupil.

State aid to public schools during the past decade increased from $106 million to $229 million, the report disclosed.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, said the figures do not include appropriations for operating state universities.

He said appropriations for the coming school year hit a high of $244.5 million and will boost the percentage of general funds used for school purposes.

The report said school appropriations during the period studied rose to 51 per cent of general fund revenues for the bookkeeping year ended June 30, 1959.

"This percentage fell 10 points to 41 per cent of total tax revenues in the year ending June 30, 1960, because of the impact of a considerable amount of new general fund taxes enacted during the term of the 103rd Legislature (1959)," Cloud said.

"The percentage of all tax revenues appropriated to public schools is again rising, reaching 46 per cent of all general fund tax revenues in the school and fiscal year ending last June 30," he added.

The study said general fund tax revenues, available for appropriation, increased during the decade from $289 million to $503 million for the last fiscal year.

But the $229 million granted schools in the last fiscal year exceeded the $221 million available from sales tax revenues during that period, the report said.

Other figures showed that state contributions to retirement systems for teachers and employees mounted from $18 million to nearly $58 million during the decade. State payments were in addition to contributions by teachers and employes themselves.

New Penal Setup Studied For Use In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Public Institutions Commissioner Chauncey H. Browning Jr. can see merit in a proposal calling for a new State Department of Corrections.

But he wouldn't like to see the department he heads split by establishment of such an agency to administer West Virginia's penal and correctional insitutions.

The penal and related facilities are among 15 institutions which Browning's office supervises. Others include tubercular sanitariums, a chronic disease hospital, and homes for children and aged.

"The big problem," as I see it," Browning said, "would be what to do with the institutions of other than a penal and correctional nature which now are under this office's control."

Several possible administrative transfers have been discussed. One would place such facilities as the Denmar chronic disease hospital and the state tubercular institutions under the Health Department's jurisdiction.

Browning said, however, that such institutions "don't exactly fit into specific categories which now are administered by such agencies as the Health, Mental Health and Welfare departments."

He wondered if such administrative transfers might not prove detrimental to the institutions now under his department, regardless of how concerted efforts to avoid such a thing might be.

"I don't feel that the state can afford to lose the type of experience it has gained from an administrative and management viewpoint down through the years.

"It would be no answer to transfer personnel in this department to other agencies, because they would in effect be put in administrative fields outside their experience — and the state would be the loser."

Actually, the $10,000-a-year office of public institutions commissioner dates back only to 1957 when the Legislature abolished the old three-member State Board of Control. At the same time it also set up the State Mental Health Department.

Until the late 1940s, the Board of Control also managed financial and business affairs of West Virginia University and state operated colleges and schools.

The State Department of Corrections proposal came in 1959 from the West Virginia Crime and Delinquency Council, a citizens' group headed by Charles M. Love Jr., Charleston attorney and former state senator.

Harold E. Neely, then the state's public institutions commissioner and the 1960 Republican nominee for governor, immediately voiced opposition.

He said the department would require money that could better be spent improving existing salaries and services and that the cost of a separate new agency would have been prohibitive at that time.

In other words, Neely said, the great need was for more funds in the state's penal and correctional program at the prisons and other institutions themselves, rather than in the administrative framework.

The corrections department proposal has remained under study by legislative committees and others. It almost certainly will come before the Legislature again at its next session in January, 1963.

Its future, and that of other state agencies, also hinges on whether the people approve a proposed State Executive and Budget Amendment which will be before them in the Nov. 6 election.

Under that amendment, the number of state administrative agencies would be reduced to not more than 20 principal departments, exclusive of the offices of elected officials and higher education governing boards.

Joseph E. Hodgson, Public Service Commission chairman whom Browning succeeded June 1 as institutions commission, expressed qualified approval of the Department of Corrections idea at a recent legislative committee meeting.

Browning agreed that the general approach is sound. But he has not yet formed any definite recommendations or ideas as to the best means of implementing it.

"Maybe one answer would be something like a division of corrections in this (the public institutions) department, with all of our other institutions in another division," he ventured.

New Penal Setup Studied For Use In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Public Institutions Commissioner Chauncey H. Browning Jr. can see merit in a proposal calling for a new State Department of Corrections.

But he wouldn't like to see the department he heads split by establishment of such an agency to administer West Virginia's penal and correctional insitutions.

The penal and related facilities are among 15 institutions which Browning's office supervises. Others include tubercular sanitariums, a chronic disease hospital, and homes for children and aged.

"The big problem," as I see it," Browning said, "would be what to do with the institutions of other than a penal and correctional nature which now are under this office's control."

Several possible administrative transfers have been discussed. One would place such facilities as the Denmar chronic disease hospital and the state tubercular institutions under the Health Department's jurisdiction.

Browning said, however, that such institutions "don't exactly fit into specific categories which now are administered by such agencies as the Health, Mental Health and Welfare departments."

He wondered if such administrative transfers might not prove detrimental to the institutions now under his department, regardless of how concerted efforts to avoid such a thing might be.

"I don't feel that the state can afford to lose the type of experience it has gained from an administrative and management viewpoint down through the years.

"It would be no answer to transfer personnel in this department to other agencies, because they would in effect be put in administrative fields outside their experience — and the state would be the loser."

Actually, the $10,000-a-year office of public institutions commissioner dates back only to 1957 when the Legislature abolished the old three-member State Board of Control. At the same time it also set up the State Mental Health Department.

Until the late 1940s, the Board of Control also managed financial and business affairs of West Virginia University and state operated colleges and schools.

The State Department of Corrections proposal came in 1959 from the West Virginia Crime and Delinquency Council, a citizens' group headed by Charles M. Love Jr., Charleston attorney and former state senator.

Harold E. Neely, then the state's public institutions commissioner and the 1960 Republican nominee for governor, immediately voiced opposition.

He said the department would require money that could better be spent improving existing salaries and services and that the cost of a separate new agency would have been prohibitive at that time.

In other words, Neely said, the great need was for more funds in the state's penal and correctional program at the prisons and other institutions themselves, rather than in the administrative framework.

The corrections department proposal has remained under study by legislative committees and others. It almost certainly will come before the Legislature again at its next session in January, 1963.

Its future, and that of other state agencies, also hinges on whether the people approve a proposed State Executive and Budget Amendment which will be before them in the Nov. 6 election.

Under that amendment, the number of state administrative agencies would be reduced to not more than 20 principal departments, exclusive of the offices of elected officials and higher education governing boards.

Joseph E. Hodgson, Public Service Commission chairman whom Browning succeeded June 1 as institutions commission, expressed qualified approval of the Department of Corrections idea at a recent legislative committee meeting.

Browning agreed that the general approach is sound. But he has not yet formed any definite recommendations or ideas as to the best means of implementing it.

"Maybe one answer would be something like a division of corrections in this (the public institutions) department, with all of our other institutions in another division," he ventured.

Ladies in High Gear

THERE are not many project engineers that can bake a cake, but Mary Sohler and Virginia Sink are equally at home in the kitchen, in the laboratory, or while tinkering with a highly-intricate piece of experimental automotive equipment. Miss Sink is a project engineer for the Chrysler Corporation's Engineering Division in Detroit. Previously she was in charge of chemical research for many years.

Mary Sohler is employed by the Ford Motor Company as a top member of the engineering and research staff in Dearborn, Mich. For five years she has worked on projects involving automotive safety, and most recently on engine performance testing, which has been instrumental in the development of the new lightweight engines. Miss Sohler is Chairman of the Detroit chapter of the Society of Women Engineers. She has also retained her Naval Reserve status and is presently a Lieutenant Commander with a helicopter squadron. Throughout the war Miss Sohler flew submarine patrol missions over the Caribbean area.

"What most women don't realize," says Miss Sohler, and Miss Sink heartily concurs, "is that engineering is one of the best paying fields open to women. Women shouldn't be scared off because they think they must make a decision between a career and marriage if they enter this field. Actually more than half the women employed as engineers are married."

According to estimates, the United States will need 800,000 more engineers by 1970 to continue a proper rate of technological progress. Present predictions say we shall fall 300,000 short of this figure.

How about it, ladies? The field is wide open.

Ladies in High Gear

THERE are not many project engineers that can bake a cake, but Mary Sohler and Virginia Sink are equally at home in the kitchen, in the laboratory, or while tinkering with a highly-intricate piece of experimental automotive equipment. Miss Sink is a project engineer for the Chrysler Corporation's Engineering Division in Detroit. Previously she was in charge of chemical research for many years.

Mary Sohler is employed by the Ford Motor Company as a top member of the engineering and research staff in Dearborn, Mich. For five years she has worked on projects involving automotive safety, and most recently on engine performance testing, which has been instrumental in the development of the new lightweight engines. Miss Sohler is Chairman of the Detroit chapter of the Society of Women Engineers. She has also retained her Naval Reserve status and is presently a Lieutenant Commander with a helicopter squadron. Throughout the war Miss Sohler flew submarine patrol missions over the Caribbean area.

"What most women don't realize," says Miss Sohler, and Miss Sink heartily concurs, "is that engineering is one of the best paying fields open to women. Women shouldn't be scared off because they think they must make a decision between a career and marriage if they enter this field. Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Selfish Child Lacks Inhibitions

"Ever since I can remember, our son, eight, has had to be first in everything," writes a mother from Michigan. She has three boys, nine, eight and three, and a girl, 4½. She continues: "He will almost knock people over in order to be the first through a door, into the car, out of the car, etc. Even though he knows a door is locked, he rushes to be there first. If he isn't the winner, someone cheated. He lies to his parents that he did or didn't do something, even though there is proof that he did or didn't. He even destroyed a calendar page so his older brother wouldn't have a birthday.

"HE WILL BRAG that he finished an assignment first in class, and the fact that everything wasn't completed or correct makes no impression on him.

"In class he is very obedient, very quiet and very attentive; at home and at play he is the opposite.

"Most of the time when he is asked to do a certain thing at home, he completely ignores the request, or asks a question which makes me wonder whether he doesn't hear me, can't understand or just doesn't care.

"His grades were always A or B and he was on the 'high honor roll', until last month, when he received a C in a subject in which he bragged he would get an A. I kept asking him to bring the assignments in this subject home so I could help him, and he did so twice within a month. The remainder of the time he said he did it in school.

"I have explained to him that no one knows everything and that no one wins all the time; that each person possesses individual talents.

"I CAN'T SEE where we show any preference among our children; if one deserves praise he receives it, and vice versa."

My reply in part:

It is very apparent that this boy lacks normal inhibitions and that you parents have trusted too much to talk to check his selfish urges.

When in your presence, why do you let him trample over others in order to be first? Why don't you set effective penalties and, when necessary, use your hand to restrain him?

Make clear the few things he must do or must not do at home. Don't ask him. Tell him. Assign a few regular chores he can't escape.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Tot Meaning of No," "The Very Selfish Child" and "Educating Your Child in Responsibility," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Selfish Child Lacks Inhibitions

"Ever since I can remember, our son, eight, has had to be first in everything," writes a mother from Michigan. She has three boys, nine, eight and three, and a girl, 4½. She continues: "He will almost knock people over in order to be the first through a door, into the car, out of the car, etc. Even though he knows a door is locked, he rushes to be there first. If he isn't the winner, someone cheated. He lies to his parents that he did or didn't do something, even though there is proof that he did or didn't. He even destroyed a calendar page so his older brother wouldn't have a birthday.

"HE WILL BRAG that he finished an assignment first in class, and the fact that everything wasn't completed or correct makes no impression on him.

"In class he is very obedient, very quiet and very attentive; at home and at play he is the opposite.

"Most of the time when he is asked to do a certain thing at home, he completely ignores the request, or asks a question which makes me wonder whether he doesn't hear me, can't understand or just doesn't care.

"His grades were always A or B and he was on the 'high honor roll', until last month, when he received a C in a subject in which he bragged he would get an A. I kept asking him to bring the assignments in this subject home so I could help him, and he did so twice within a month. The remainder of the time he said he did it in school.

"I have explained to him that no one knows everything and that no one wins all the time; that each person possesses individual talents.

"I CAN'T SEE where we show any preference among our children; if one deserves praise he receives it, and vice versa."

My reply in part:

It is very apparent that this boy lacks normal inhibitions and that you parents have trusted too much to talk to check his selfish urges.

When in your presence, why do you let him trample over others in order to be first? Why don't you set effective penalties and, when necessary, use your hand to restrain him?

Make clear the few things he must do or must not do at home. Don't ask him. Tell him. Assign a few regular chores he can't escape.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Tot Meaning of No," "The Very Selfish Child" and "Educating Your Child in Responsibility," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

QUESTION: Do insects have hearts?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Yes, but they are much simpler than the hearts we have and they perform only part of the jobs our hearts do. A heart is a pump designed to keep a fluid moving inside a body. Our hearts circulate blood, which, through the action of the lungs, becomes charged with the vital oxygen all creatures must have in order to live. Our blood distributes this oxygen and also picks up waste material which must be removed from the body cells. Insects get their oxygen by a different system. They use "tracheal tubes" which gather air from the outside through little holes called "spiracles" (see illustration). The tracheal tubes then distribute oxygen inside. Yet the insects do have hearts. The grasshopper's heart is a simple tube which pumps blood into the large body cavities. The use of the colorless or greenish blood which circulates in an insect's body is not to bring air but to do a number of other necessary jobs, such as helping in waste removal and in the using and storing of certain food materials.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Catch a large insect like a grasshopper and see if you can locate the spiracles. It is interesting to know that because of the way this breathing system is laid out no insect can grow to be larger than the largest dragonfly.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have a rival who hangs around my home day and night, monopolizes my husband's time and attention, takes over our dinner conversation, and even invades the bedroom. Her name is "Baseball" and I'm sick of her.

My husband is seldom at home for dinner during the week, but whenever he is, we have to watch a game. I wouldn't dare to open up my mouth during a play. When we go to bed he always has a game on the radio. He falls asleep around the seventh inning. The radio bothers me so I sleep on a lumpy cot downstairs. He calls this "unfriendly."

Ann, I like baseball and have learned a great deal about it but I think there's a time and place for it. He knows how I feel but it doesn't seem to matter. Shall I just continue to suffer with it as I have for the last 14 years?—F.O.B. (Full of Baseball).

Dear F.O.B.: Rejoice in the knowledge that your rival is an inanimate, seasonal thing. Also on the plus side—can't you see that it's boyish infatuation (and not true love) or he wouldn't fall asleep in the seventh inning?

Pro 'Maple Leaf'

Dear Ann: It did my heart good to read that letter from "Maple Leaf" who believes it is perfectly all right for a woman who is separated from her husband (though not divorced) to go out with men. Usually, I agree with you, but this time I was on the other side.

"Maple Leaf's" colorful description of Canada's divorce laws was not an exaggeration. Until this archaic legislation is changed there will be no place in society for the woman whose first marriage was a mistake.

There is no alternative for women who are legally chained but living alone. They are sunk unless they accept dates. Married women never include us because they are fearful their husbands may find us attractive. Single girls are trying to snag men for themselves, so they aren't going to include us either.

My advice to "Maple Leaf" is to use discretion. Her reputation will not be sullied. True friends will understand there is no other way. The rest of the loudmouths don't count. If you are fair, Ann Landers, you will print this letter—NEVER-NEVER LAND.

Dear Never-Never: Thank you for your letter. It reflects the thinking of hundreds of other Canadians who wrote in support of "Maple Leaf."

My position that married women should not be dating still stands. However, let's hope this furor may help to achieve sounder legislation for Canadians.

Blind Or Pickup?

Dear Ann: I just read the letter in your column about blind dates. You seem to be all in favor of them, in fact you make it sound like an exciting adventure.

What do you think about a girl being picked up if the fellow looks respectable?

This is even more adventurous and a whole lot more sensible than a blind date. After all, when a girl accepts a blind date she had to take someone else's word that the guy is all right.

Don't you think a girl is safer if she sizes up the fellow and decides for herself? If he gets smart she can always tell him to get lost.

Several of us girls have talked this over during lunch and we want your opinion. — MODERN MISSES.

Dear Misses: A blind date is an arrangement made by a mutual friend who knows something about both parties. This is infinitely safer than deciding at a glance whether a man is married, a dope pusher, a psychopath or heaven knows what.

The girl who gets picked up admits, in a sense, that no one she knows will invite her out so she's willing to take a chance on a stranger. Such a girl puts a cheap price tag on her company.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
